APPEAL CALLS FOR A MEETING ON NEUTRAL MEXICAN SOIL TO ADOPT FIRST STEPS FOR CIVIL REFORM

Joint Announcement Makes Not Even an Intimation of Armed Intervention.

ASKS EARLY ELECTIONS

Considered the Most Essential Step Toward Constitutional Reconstruction.

American Conferees Would Act as Intermediaries

Washington, Aug. 14. — The Pan-American appeal to Mexico now being delivered to the chiefs of factions and governors of states was made public here tonight by the State Department.

Without even an intimation of armed intervention, it calls upon the leaders to meet somewhere in Mexico, on neutralized ground, in a conference, "to adopt the first steps necessary to the constitutional reconstruction of the country," and to issue a call for immediate elections. The services of the United States, or any of the other Pan-American conferees, are offered as intermediaries to arrange the meeting.

The appeal, although addressed to the political and military leaders, takes on the form of an announcement to the Mexican people themselves. As made public by the State Department, the document is prefaced by this announcement:

"The Mexican people are informed that the following communication has been sent to many prominent persons in Mexico who possess authority or military power within the republic:"

Text of the Appeal.

Then follows the appeal, dated at Washington, Aug. 11:

"The undersigned, the Secretary of State of the United States, the ambassadors extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Brazil, Chile and Argentina and the envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala, accredited to the government of the United States of America, acting severally and independently, unanimously send to you the following communication:

"Inspired by the most sincere spirit of American fraternity, and convinced that they rightly interpret the earnest wish of the entire continent, have met informally at the suggestion of the Secretary of State of the United States to consider the Mexican situation, and to ascertain whether their friendly and disinterested help could be successfully employed to re-establish peace and constitutional order in our sister republic.

Noble and Resolute Response.

"In the heat of the frightful struggle which for so long has steeped in blood the Mexican soil, doubtless all may well have lost sight of the dissolving effects of the strife upon the most vital conditions of the national existence, not only upon the life and liberty of the inhabitants but on the prestige and security of the country. We cannot doubt, however—no one can doubt—that in the presence of a sympathetic appeal from their brothers of America, recalling to them these disastrous effects, asking them to save their mother land from an abyss—no one can doubt, we repeat—that the patriotism of the men who lead or aid in any way the bloody strife will not remain unmoved; no one can doubt that each and every one of them, measuring in his own conscience his share in the responsibilities of past misfortune and looking forward to his share in the glory of the pacification and recognition of the country, will respond nobly and resolutely to this friendly appeal and give their best efforts to opening the way to some saving action.

Call for Immediate Elections.

"We, the undersigned, believe that if the men directing the armed movements in Mexico—whether political or military chiefs—should agree to meet, either in person or by delegate, far from the sound of cannon, and with no other inspiration save the thought of their afflicted land, there to exchange ideas and to determine the fate of the country—from such action would undoubtedly result the strong and unyielding agreement requisite to the creation of a provisional government, which should adopt the first steps necessary to the constitutional reconstruction of the country—and to issue the first and most essential of them all, the immediate call to general elections.

"An adequate place within the Mexican frontiers, which for the purpose

Additional Forces Ordered to Brownsville by War Department

WAR DEPARTMENT Library of Congress

General Funston Requested That the Garrison at That Point be Strengthened—Carranza Commander Joins in Giving Significant Warning to Mexican Outlaws.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Late today the War Department, at the request of Major General Funston, ordered one regiment of infantry from Texas City to Brownsville and also ordered one aeroplane, one battery of 4.7 guns and one battery of 4.7 Howitzers to Brownsville from Fort Sill, Okla.

Assistant Secretary Breckinridge said that the new orders were issued because of General Funston's desire that the garrison at Brownsville be strengthened. "The Howitzers have been sent," said Mr. Breckinridge, "as they are the best weapons to use against marauders who may be hiding in the hills because of their high angle fire. General Funston feels that there should be a stronger force at Brownsville, where there has been so much difficulty. He did not report any new development."

OUTLAWS ARE WARNED

Border Outbreak Believed to Be Due to So-Called Exiled Huerta

Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 14.—Significant warnings were given to Mexican outlaws along the Texas border today both by Captain J. M. Fox, of the Texas Rangers, and by General E. P. Nafarrate, Carranza commander at Matamoros.

Captain Fox telephoned tonight from Raymondsville, a few miles north of here, the following short message:

"We got another Mexican, but he's dead."

From other sources it was learned that this Mexican who was found on a ranch near Raymondsville, was connected with a band which raided sections north of here early this week.

General Nafarrate announced through the Mexican consulate here that he was trying to aid in stopping the depredations of Mexican outlaws. The consul said Nafarrate would order his commanders not to permit any armed person to escape into the United States.

A new angle on the cases of the Texas border revolution was furnished today by United States Consul Johnson at Matamoros. He said many persons in that section believed the outbreak was due, in part, to so-called Huerta followers who for a year have been exiled along the Texas border. Some of these exiles, he said, appeared to hope that they might regain their prestige in Mexico if trouble were stirred up with the United States.

A Mexican tenant on the farm of Frank Rabb, collector of customs here, found a note under his door warning him to vacate within a month. Rabb is endeavoring to protect his tenant.

The coroner who investigated the finding of three dead Mexicans yesterday in the Mercedes section, reported that they met death from "unknown causes." Army headquaters here today received the following telegram from San Juan, Texas:

"Caught four Mexicans in depredations here. Three of them escaped. Fourth is now perfectly good Indian."

This telegram came from civilians and did not say that officers had killed the fourth Mexican.

Fostered by Mexicans.

After a conference between General Frederick Funston and a committee headed by Congressman John M. Garner, General Funston announced tonight that he believed the committee had established its contention that the disorder in the Rio Grande valley had been fostered by Mexican authorities. Affidavits were submitted to the War Department that a date had actually been set by the Mexicans for the sacking of Brownsville.

General Funston said he was convinced the committee possessed information which warranted prompt action. Affidavits were shown General Funston tending to substantiate a report that General Nafarrate, Carranza commander at Matamoros, had boasted that when the time came he "would plant the Mexican flag on top of the Brownsville postoffice."

While given authority to order such additional troops as he deemed necessary General Funston decided to communicate with Washington and orders were issued at once to dispatch artillery to the Rio Grande valley in addition to infantry and aeroplane service.

New Troops in the Field.

The new troops in the field will be the 5th regiment of infantry from Texas City, Col. R. L. Bullard, commanding; batteries B and E, of the field artillery from Fort Sill and one aeroplane also from Fort Sill.

Both artillery companies are equipped with heavy pieces, battery B having 4.7 inch Howitzers and battery E field pieces of the same calibre.

Upon the arrival of the 26th at Brownsville, the two battalions of the Ninth infantry recently sent there from Laredo will return to their headquarters. The net result of the changes will be re-establishment of a full regiment of infantry at Laredo and the increase of the forces at Brownsville by four companies of infantry, two batteries of artillery and one aeroplane detachment.

Late reports from Brownsville said that the Carranza forces along the border at Matamoros have two batteries (eight pieces) of artillery of the French 75 millimetre model. There are about 800 Mexican soldiers in the garrison between Camargo and Matamoros, a distance of 100 miles. It was said that should Obregon decide to co-operate with Nafarrate the artillery strength could be trebled within 24 hours and

MEXICANS OF FIVE STATES AND TERRITORY QUIT WAR

Refuse to Recognize the Authority of Either Villa, Carranza or Zapata and Declare That for Their Part the Revolution Has Ended—Return to Peaceful Pursuits

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 14.—The military commanders of the states of Sinaloa, Pepic, Chiapas, Oaxaca, Guerrero and it is believed Durango, have refused to recognize the authority of either Villa or Carranza, according to authoritative advices here today.

It is said they have decided that for those states the revolution is over and although prepared to resist invasion of their states, the soldiers are to be used in planting and harvesting.

The five states and one territory are authoritatively announced to have declared through their military governors that the revolution is at an end in so far as they are concerned.

Carranza and Villa or other forces in arms would be met by resistance should they attempt to enter these precincts of Mexico. Troops in these precincts will be returned to peaceful pursuits.

According to the report the declaration of the military governors was made with a view to preserving the integrity of the autonomy of their communal organizations and to enable them to enter peace negotiations without factional allegiance as between Carranza, Villa or Zapata. The governors who thus declared for armed neutrality are of various shades of political affiliation.

The territory of Tepic favors Villa; Oaxaca state has maintained independence; Guerrero's present status is unknown here; Chiapas, Villa territory; Sinaloa is Carranza territory, and Durango is Carranza-Arrieta brothers' territory.

To this an announcement from Villa sources adds that Governor Jose Maria Maytorena, of Sonora; Governor Santiago Ramirez, of Coahuila, Villa adherents, and Governor Fidal Avela, of Chihuahua, might be expected to cooperate with the Villa government in its recently proclaimed non-combatant attitude.

This would make in all eight states and one territory of Mexico pledged to some form of peaceful settlement of Mexico's internal disorder.

CARRANZA DISMISSES MAYOR.

Vera Cruz Officer Dicharged for Permitting Anti-Foreign Outbreaks.

Washington, Aug. 14.—General Carranza summarily dismissed the mayor of Vera Cruz from office for permitting the recent anti-foreign demonstrations which aroused apprehension of the American government, says an official report received here today.

In view of continued re-assuring reports from Vera Cruz it is probable the battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire now sailing south will not be ordered to Vera Cruz as was contemplated but will be held at some convenient place for future developments.

Preparations have been made by the State Department to receive J. M. Cardoso de Oliveira, the Brazilian minister to Mexico, in a manner which will express the appreciation of the United States for his services in the Mexican capital for the last year while the American government has been without other diplomatic representation.

The cruiser Sacramento has been delayed by the gulf storm but will arrive tomorrow at New Orleans bringing the Brazilian minister and also Dr. Ortega, the Guatemalan minister, who was ordered from Mexico by General Carranza because his government participated in the Pan-American conferences.

Mr. Cardoso will be met at New Orleans by Leon J. Canova, chief of the State Depatrment division of Mexican affairs, who will escort him to Washington to receive the thanks of President Wilson and Secretary Lansing for his services to the United States.

Rochester, N. Y., August 14.—Lawrence Lyon, 24 years old, of Ithaca, an aviator, was drowned at Conesus Lake late today when the aeroplane turned over he fell into the water.

RUSSIANS HURRYING TO SECOND DEFENSE

Austro-Germans Concentrated on Brest-Litovsk

RUSSIAN LINES YIELD

Question is, Will Further Retirement be Necessary?—German Emperor Would Negotiate Peace if Allies Propose It.

The rush of the Teutonic advance eastward in Poland is rapidly hurrying the Russians to their second line of defense, centering upon the fortress of Brest-Litovsk. Austro-German concentration of effort seems to be in the direction of this stronghold, from which their forces are at points now barely 40 miles distant.

Opinion in allied capitals seems divided as to whether Grand Duke Nicholas will be able to hold this new line. Petrograd military observers express confidence that the Teutons will be checked at the selected positions, while London is wondering whether a further retirement of the Russians will not be necessitated.

The latest official reports seem to show the Russian lines rapidly yielding in the center and to the south, where Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces have penetrated to the Radzyn Vladavoa line. In the north the Russians appear to be making a more determined stand.

In the West the chief activity is in the Argonne, where the French report the repulse of new German attacks. Berlin claims some ground has been gained.

Reports from the Dardanelles carry the story of the operations little further, if any, than that told in recent British official statement, which reported a new landing of troops and advances inland. Turkish reports deny any further gains by the Entente allies.

On the Austro-Italian front the fighting of late seems to have been confined chiefly to artillery actions, with little change of ground through infantry attacks.

A Paris news agency has received a dispatch from Rome declaring that in response to the recent peace appeal of Pope Benedict the German Emperor declared his willingness to enter into peace negotiations provided the first overtures came from the nations at war with Germany. Austria replied similarly, it was added.

FAIRMONT WELCOMES MULLINS TOBACCO MEN ON BOOSTER TRIP.

More Than 60 Strong, the South Carolinians Invade North Carolina.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fairmont, N. C., Aug. 14.—Given a rousing welcome by Fairmont and the Fairmont Tobacco Board of Trade, more than 60 prominent tobacco men from Mullins, S. C., spent two hours here today on a boosting expedition through the South Carolina tobacco belt. At Page's Mill, on their way here, they were met by a delegation of nearly 100 Fairmont citizens, including leading warehousemen and buyers, and escorted to the town, where they were assured of a hearty welcome by Mayor F. L. Blue, in a most happy address.

The latch string hangs on the outside of the best tobacco market in the world, he said. Lunch had been prepared for them at the Dixie Cafe, where they were carried after the mayor's welcome. After lunch Mr. J. Dock Prevatt responded to the address of welcome in behalf of the visitors in his usual witty style.

All automobiles carried large banners boosting the respective markets and a huge banner with the simple inscription, "Welcome," greeted the Mullins boosters as they drove in the Center street. Although of short duration, the occasion, as Mr. Prevatt well said, was one to be remembered "as long as a woodpecker watches a dead sap tree."

AMERICAN BARK AND CARGO STILL HELD BY GERMANS

Disposition of Dacia Case May be Awaited as Precedent.

Bremen, Aug. 14, via London.—The German authorities have not yet released the American bark Pass of Balmoha, which was brought into port a fortnight ago, having on board 5,000 bales of cotton from New York for Archangel. The situation is complicated with circumstances which may lead to considering the Pass of Balmoha a good prize, although her cargo of cotton is not contraband.

The case is similar to that of the American steamer Dacia, when that vessel was transferred to American registry at the outbreak of the war, and so far as can be ascertained, her cargo already had been passed to the ownership of the Russian consignees. The ultimate disposition of the Dacia may be awaited as a precedent.

INVESTIGATE FACILITIES.

Of Shipping Between United States and South and Central America.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The interstate Commerce Commission will make an exhaustive investigation of shipping facilities between the United States and South and Central America.

Acting Secretary Sweet, of the Department of Commerce, arranged today to confer with Chairman McChord, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who has been designated to conduct the investigation.

Key West, Fla., Aug. 14.—The approach of the tropical storm, which has been sweeping through the West Indies was in evidence off the Florida coast tonight, but no serious damage to shopping has been reported. Practically all vessels are remaining in port.

FAIR AND UNIFORM PRICE FOR COTTON

The Purpose of Cotton States Bankers' Conference.

RESERVE BANKS FAVOR

Bankers of Eight Southern States Agree to Advance Money on Cotton Securities — Organization Perpetuated Yesterday.

Galveston, Texas, Aug. 14.—Representative bankers from eight cotton growing states here today pledged themselves to stand solidly behind the producers in an effort to secure a fair and uniform price for cotton and in this they were pledged the support of the four Southern Federal Reserve banks.

The meeting of bankers today resulted in the perpetuation of the Cotton States Bankers' Conference, the next meeting of which will be called for some time in November or December.

The means by which it is proposed to secure the producers a fair price for their staple is the gradual marketing of cotton. The bankers have agreed to advance money to the farmers on cotton securities and the Federal Reserve Bank representatives agreed to rediscount this paper. This they hope to offer no more cotton than the market will instantly absorb.

In the meeting today presidents of five state bankers' associations, representatives of three Federal Reserve banks and numerous prominent clearing house representatives took part. There were 72 bankers present.

Harding Favors Movement.

That the Federal Reserve directors are in sympathy with the movement was indicated by a telegram from W. F. G. Harding, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who expressed a willingness to meet with a committee of Southern bankers in Birmingham on August 26. A committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Harding on the general subject of cotton marketing.

The committee is composed of one representative from every state. Most of them are the presidents of their respective state bankrs' associations.

The formation of an association of Southern bankers had been one of the plans of the leaders in calling today's meeting but after the delegates arrived it was decided to abandon this plan.

REV. "BOB" JONES SPEAKER.

Methodist Bible Conference Will Come to Close Tonight.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 14.—Rev. "Bob" Jones, of Montgomery, Ala., evangelist for the Southern Methodist church, was speaker today at the Bible Conference at Lake Junaluska. He will speak again tomorrow and Rev. A. M. Bennett, of the Candler school of Theology, at Atlanta, will speak tomorrow night. Dr. Bennett's address will end the conference. Dr. H. M. DuBose, of Atlanta, director of the conference; Dean W. F. Tillett, of Vanderbilt University, and Dr. S. G. Gordon, of New York, made short addresses today before leaving for their homes.

SOLDIERS STIMULATED FOR BAYONET CHARGES

Alcohol and Drugs Used, Says Miss Jane Addams.

Speaks on Peace and Tells of Practices of European Countries—America Must Lead Fight to End War, She Says.

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, speaking today on "peace" before the Chautauqua Assembly, re-affirmed her statement that Europe's soldiers, in some cases, have been stimulated by alcoholics and drugs for the bayonet charges. "My informants in England, France and Germany were soldiers, officers and well-informed civilians," said Miss Addams.

"I don't question the soldier's courage," she continued, "but when a prominent official in the Paris war office tells me his men are given absinthe before a bayonet charge I believe him. When a German lieutenant tells me his men were given a drug formula, containing sulphuric ether among other things, to atimulate their bloody bayonet work, I believe him. And when a big Oxford University professor in England tells me his son and nephew were given rum to stimulate them in battle I believe him.

"When common talk in all countries among the women who have husbands and sons and sweethearts at the front tells the same thing, I begin to believe that the average soldier is not sufficiently brutish and beastly to fight with cold steel against his brother men unless primed with drugs or strong drink.

"Every nation sincerely believes it is fighting for self-protection for righteousness," declared Miss Addams. "Each will hold out to the end of its strength unless some neutral power offers effective intervention. Everywhere civilians are dominated by militarists. America must lead the fight for peace and disarmament. No European country can solve the riddle and the muddle."

MORE COTTON BEING CONSUMED IN SOUTH

Yearly Report of Census Bureau Issued Yesterday.

EXPORT ABOUT NORMAL

Report Also Shows Heavy Use of Linters—Efforts to Determine How Much Cotton is Being Used in Making Munitions.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Increased manufacture of cotton in the South, the heavy use of linters and almost normal cotton exports, which it was thought would be greatly reduced this year by the war, were the features of the yearly cotton consumption and distribution report issued today by the Census Bureau.

Cotton consumed during July was 498,476 bales of lint and 48,864 of linters, against 448,333 and 23,456 in July last year.

Cotton on hand July 31 in consuming establishments was 1,401,484 bales of lint and 192,873 of linters, against 905,762 and 84,218 last year, and in public storage and at compresses 1,784,812 bales of lint and 98,401 of linters, against 425,102 and 32,366 last year.

Exports during July were 243,522 bales of lint and 14,364 of linters, against 126,211 and 8,644 last year and for the 12 months, 8,543,573 bales of lint and 219,111 of linters, against 9,150,801 and 259,881 the previous year.

Imports were 35,667 bales against 23,790 in July last year and for the 12 months 382,287 bales against 266,988 the previous year. Foreign cotton consumed in July was 21,641 bales, on hand July 31 in consuming establishments, 108,872 bales and in public storage 35,987 bales.

Efforts are being made by the Census Bureau to determine how much cotton is being used in the manufacture of explosives. Director Rogers, in a formal statement today, explained that numerous requests have been received for estimates.

The bureau finds it difficult to get exact information, as much of the cotton used in explosives is first purified by establishments not connected with explosive plants.

WRECKS FRUIT PLANTATIONS.

Central District of North Coast of Jamaica Suffers from Storm.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 14.—All along the central districts of the north coast fruit plantations were almost completely wrecked by the disastrous storm which swept Jamaica yesterday.

At Port Maria scarcely a banana tree was left standing.

Four lives were lost at Buff Bay, where wharves and fruit houses were wrecked and several public buildings unroofed. It will be impossible to get details of the damage done until means of communications is restored.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Oyster interests all along the Atlantic coast complained to the Interstate Commerce Commission today against railroad regulations which require them to pay for icing in transit. They complain that the regulation advances the rates beyond the five per cent. increase in freight rates recently granted.

STANDARD OIL FAILS TO SECURE CONTRACTS

For Developing Oil Fields in Northern China.

Effect of Recent Granting of Commercial Demands to Japan May Seriously Affect Exports from United States to China.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Failure of the Standard Oil Company to obtain a permanent concession for the development of oil fields in Northern China, as reported today from Peking, caused much comment in commercial and diplomatic circles here. Officials were inclined to speculate as to a possible connection between the failure of these negotiations and the recent granting by China of commercial demands made by Japan.

More than half of the American export business to China is kerosene oil and the development of extensive oil fields in China by citizens of any other country would have a disastrous effect upon Chinese-American trade, according to commercial officials of the government. The United States was the only country doing an increased trade in oil with China during 1914, and the oil is about the only article in that trade which has not met severe Japanese competition.

In a report on China's foreign trade for the last year, made public here today, Consul General Sammons at Shanghai said:

"Of the few items of increased imports into China in 1914, American kerosene proved of greatest importance.

"Aside from kerosene the imports into China from the United States amounted to only about $12,000,000 in 1914; kerosene importations were valued at $16,686,146.

"The Standard Oil Company is expending large sums of money to demonstrate whether China's oil fields are to contribute to the far Eastern demand for kerosene and other petroleum products."

BALKAN SITUATION IS NEARING CRISIS

Central Powers Have Massed Troops on Frontiers.

RUMANIA HAS MOBILIZED

Serbia Shows Inclination to Make Some Concessions to Her Former Ally. Allies Continue to Express New Confidence.

London, Aug. 14.—Affairs in the Balkans are approaching a crisis. While diplomatic negotiations are proceeding in an effort to induce states still neutral to cast their lot with one side or the other, the central powers have massed troops on the Balkan frontiers. Their plan, it is supposed, is to force a way through to relieve Turkey which is believed to be badly in need of shells.

This concentration which has been followed by an artillery attack on Serbian positions, is equally a menace to Rumania which again has refused to permit shells to pass through her territory to Turkey. The Rumanian army already is partly mobilized and four new divisions of reserves now have been called out. Bulgaria has as yet made no move while awaiting the reply of the quadruple entente to her demand that Serbia and Greece conceda Macedonia in turn for her military support. This answer probably will be forthcomlig after the meeting of the Greek and Serbian parliaments next week.

The Serbians show an inclination to make some concessions to obtain the support of their former ally.

Greece May Change Policy.

Greece is more firm in her refusal but it is believed here there may be a change in her policy when former Premier Venizelos returns to power, although he has a strong pro-German party opposed to him, and, according to a telegram from Berlin tonight, King Constantine will offer him the Premiership only with the understanding that strict neutrality be maintained. This was the point upon which the king and M. Venizelos disagreed when a new cabinet was appointed and parliament was dissolved. Inasmuch as M. Venizelos was supported by the people at a general election it was thought the King might fall into line but the dispatch from Berlin indicates he has not changed his views. Should Bulgaria, attack Serbia, however Greece is bound by treaty to support Serbia.

Allies Renew Confidence.

With an apparent improvement of the Russian situation on the Eastern front there are renewed expressions of confidence in the allied countries. The Russians claim they are continuing to drive the Germans back from Riga and west of Dvinsk and still are keeping them away from the fortress of Kovno. Although the Austro-Germans continue their victorious advance in the south and southwest, the absence of official mention of capture of guns or munitions indicates that the towns and positions they occupy all are evacuated before their arrival.

The only important development on the western front is the German claim of another local success in the Argonne. The French report declares all attacks were repulsed.

FORM DELAWARE BRANCH OF NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE.

Congressman Miller Announces That He Will Take Hand.

New York, Aug. 14.—Officials of the National Security League announced today that Congressman Miller, of Delaware, has consented to take an active part in the formation of a branch in his state. The Maryland League for national defense is said to be working with the security league in organizing Maryland.

R. Brewster, a field secretary, reports that he has met with much success in organizing work in Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

The Louisville Commercial Club has endorsed the league, and offered assistance in forming a branch there. Organization work is being carried on at Atlanta and other points in the South.

EASTLAND RESTORED TO EVEN KEEL; NO MORE BODIES FOUND.

Much Small Personal Property of the Victims Recovered.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Three bushels of jewels, purses and other small pieces of personal property which belonged to victims of the Eastland disaster, were recovered when the ship, just three weeks after the catastrophe, was restored to even keel today.

The property was found on the upper decks which were the first available to search.

No bodies were found in the hold of the Eastland. The government will not release its attachment on the ship until Tuesday.

MORGAN ABOUT RECOVERED.

Will Return to Office Monday for First Time Since Being Shot.

Glen Cove, N. Y., Aug. 14.—J. P. Morgan is planning to return to his office in New York Monday for the first time since he was shot at his home here by Frank Holt, who later killed himself in the Mineola jail. It became known tonight that extraordinary precautions will be taken to protect Mr. Morgan from annoyance or possible harm.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The United States commission on industrial relations which for two years has been investigating industrial unrest and its causes concluded its sessions today and adjourned. Boston, Aug. 14.—The Boston Americans won a game of exciting plays and situations from Washington today 4 to 3, "Babe" Ruth outpitching Walter Johnson. Boston players and the stands were in an uproar in the third inning when McBride, after scoring on Foster's hit, stood in the way of Catcher Thomas on a throw from Speaker to catch Moeller at the plate. The latter scored and Umpire Wallace refused to call him out. Five minutes of argument and of noise from the stands were followed by Manager Carrigan's banishment.
Boston went into the eighth inning one run behind and after singles by Henriksen, a pinch hitter, Ruth and Hooper and Hobiltzel's sacrifice fly, came out a run to the good.

LUMBERTON BEATS BENNETTSVILL IN SLOW, UNINTERESTING GAME

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 14.—In a slow and uninteresting baseball game here today, Lumberton defeated Bennettsville by the score of 10 to 4 by hitting the delivery of Russell hard at the right time. Russell and Poole both were as wild as march hares, each giving several bases on balls. Person hit the first ball thrown by Russell over the fence in the second. Gaston, also of the locals, hit for the circuit. Elby, of Bennettsville, got a home run. Lumberton plays Hamlet here Monday and Tuesday.

Buffalo, Aug. 14.—Buffalo and Kansas City divided today's double header, the visitors taking the first game 6 to 0, and losing the second 8 to 2. The second game was finished under protest, Manager Stovall taking exception to a ruling of the umpires on a play in the fourth inning. The bases were filled and there were three balls and two strikes on Bedient at bat. When Cullop began to wind up, Roach, who was on third, ran almost to the home plate. Cullop's ball was a strike, but Easterly stepped forward, caught it just over the plate and tagged Roach. Umpire Corcoran called Roach out but was reversed by Umpire Brennan who held that Roach was forced in Easterly's interference allowing Bedient to go to first.

THEATRICAL

"The Ghost Breaker" is one of the few pictures that measure up to the full definition of a great feature. It has, to begin with, the solid substance which makes the feature stand out above the rank and file of films; it has the right qualities of form; the dramatic construction is bold, but clear and consistant; the acting of the principal characters must meet the most exacting expectations and there is the overshadowing advantage of originality plus variety.
"The Ghost Breaker" had a long run on the speaking stage, but it is really believed that its success on the screen will be even greater.

Mr. H. B. Warner, who is featured in "The Ghost Breaker" at the Grand tomorrow, has made many friends through his great work on the screen. The play is in five acts, and the cast supporting Mr. Warner is exceedingly clever. Mr. Jesse L. Lasky is responsible for the production, released through the Paramount programme.
"The New Valet" is a one-reel comedy by Lubin company which will be presented in addition to the Paramount feature.
Admission tomorrow only, children 5 cents, adults 10 cents. The Grand is giving the best shows in town. Seeing is believing.

Tomorrow at the Bijou.

An all-star cast, including Billie Ritchie, Gertrude Selby, Pathe Lehrman and Harry Gribbon, is featured in a rousing two-reel L-Ko comedy feature, "Life and Moving Pictures," heading tomorrow's big bill at the home of "The Incomparable Movies." The great farce comedy is based on the song "He's a Cousin of Mine, Just a Cousin of Mine," and contains just about as many good big laughs as were ever crammed into two reels of motion pictures.

BILLIE RITCHIE
In "Life and Moving Pictures" Bijou Tomorrow.

Billie is there with bells on, and leads at all the fun-making in his usual manner. This is the greatest all-star cast ever seen in one single L-Ko, and everyone can rest confident that it will far surpass anything that has ever come down the pike. It is absolutely guaranteed to be the very biggest comedy that was ever known in Wilmington, and the price, of course, is the smallest, only five cents.
Pretty Violet MacMillan, "The Dream Girl" will be seen with W. Dowlan, in a great dramatic feature, "The Double Standard," an enthralling human interest drama, while Frank Lloyd and Vera Sisson present their very greatest single reel dramatic feature, "According to Value," There will also be a great Pathe comedy, making three solid reels of genuine, unadulterated comedy on tap tomorrow at Wilmington's favorite movie house.

ROOM FOR 250,000 NEW FARM FAMILIES

Twenty-Two Million Wilderness Acres in the State.

Elbow-Room in North Carolina for Homeseekers—Calmness and Solitude—Foolish Policies—Our Chinese Wall.

(University News Letter.)

A fundamental problem in the South is our immense wilderness area, some two hundred million acres, our sparse population, and the scarcity of farm labor.

We need more folks in North Carolina. Our population is too sparse. Our rural population in the state-at-large is only 39 to the square mile. We have nine counties with fewer than 20 people and three counties with fewer than 15 people to the square mile.

And in these nine counties there are three million wilderness acres. In the Cape Fear country, the uncultivated area in eleven counties almost exactly equals the entire farm area of Belgium!

We need more folks; not more tenants but more one-horse farm-owners. We need our share of the middle western home seekers, who since the first of last January have taken over into Canada some twenty million dollars of wealth.

There are 22,000,000 uncultivated acres in North Carolina. Four-fifths of it is valuable for farm purposes. A little more than seven acres in every ten are left at present to scrub-pines, blackjacks, sassafras bushes, mullein stalks, may pops and broomsedge.

Here is a neglected area almost exactly twice the size of Belgium. Here is room for every manjack of the 450,000 Belgian farmers, on farms twice the average size of the little pocket handkerchief fields they have been used to cultivating. And we should have some nine million acres of our wilderness spaces still left for woodlot uses.

Calmness and Solitude.

At present, only 29 per cent. of our total area is devoted to farms, meadows and pastures, orchards and gardens, yards and barn lots! Seventy-one per cent. is devoted to what Colonel Mulberry Sellers called calmness and solitude.

The uncultivated acreage in North Carolina ranges from 34 per cent. of the total of Alamance county to 98 per cent. in Dare. We have 48 counties, with three-fourths or more of their area uncultivated; 29 counties with four-fifths or more of it held out of productive farm uses; and 8 counties with nine-tenths or more of the land lying idle.

And this, in face of the fact that our landless, homeless people in North Carolina, in the towns and the country regions, numbered 1,136,000 souls in the census year. Around two-fifths of our farmers and two-thirds of our city dwellers were tenants and renters.

And the further fact that our homeless multitude steadily increases year by year. As communities become more and more populous and prosperous, the fewer are the people who live in their own homes.

Foolish Policies.

1. Our tax system in the United States favors land-ownership by the few and land orphanage for the many.

It allows one and a half billion acres in the country-at-large to be held out of productive farm uses, for speculative rises in value; in the South some 200,000,000 acres; in North Carolina 22,000,000 acres!

In the United States, during the last census period farm lands increased in value eighteen billion dollars! The railroads on the country did not dare to water their stock to this amount.

In North Carolina during these ten years farm lands increased in value $200,000,000. Land values ranged all the way from a decrease of 9 per cent. in Dare, to an increase of 383 per cent. in Pamlico.

Of course the chance of land ownership by our landless multitudes is a dwindling, disappearing chance! And everywhere it ought always to be easily possible for the intelligent, industrious ,thrifty, upright tenant to rise into ownership.

2. It is foolish for a county or a state to beat tomtoms about the opportunities that lie in its soils and seasons when landowners refuse to sell to newcomers at reasonable figures and in this way build a Chinese wall of speculative prices against homeseekers.

If the holder of a thousand idle acres can see no business wisdom in selling off 500 acres at fair prices to ten new farm families and thereby trebling the value of his remaining land by increasing the population of his community ten times over; if landlords in general with 22 million wilderness acres on their hands in North Carolina cannot develop what Calhoun called a policy of intelligent self-interest in this matter, then in sheer self-defense the State will be driven to adopt New Zealand's graduated land tax, sensibly modified to suit prevailing conditions.

Room for 250,000 New Farm Families.

In the table that follows, Mr. O. L. Goforth, of Durham county, and Mr. L. L. Lohr, of Lincoln county, students in the University Summer School, exhibit (1) the per cent. of uncultivated area in each county and (2) the room there is for new farm families, allowing 75 acres to each family and reserving 50,000 acres in each county for wood-lot uses.

We have in North Carolina on our present uncultivated areas room for 250,000 home-seeking farm families. This number would almost exactly double the farms we have at present, and still leave 5,000,000 acres for wood-lot purposes.

The room for new farm families ranges from 55 in Alleghany to 7,000 in Bladen county.

GREENVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Will Open Next Tuesday But Big Sales Are Not Expected.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greenville, N. C., Aug. 14.—Everything is ready for the opening of the tobacco market next Tuesday, unless it is tobacco. A good, though not such a large crop, is being cured. Few, if any, farmers have finished this work and there has been little if any time for grading. However, many farmers will about finish up curing this week and before the month wanes much more the weed will be upon our warehouse floors in greater quantities. A fair opening is expected next Tuesday, but our people do not want any big thing yet, and no effort has been made to start off with a whoop and flurry.

WOMAN EATS PARIS GREEN

Suicide in Craven—Will Dixon Offered Fortune (?)—Another New Invention.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Fenner Heat, of Marl Swamp, committed suicide Wednesday by eating a can full of Paris green. It is reported that less than 24 hours after her marriage she stated that she was dissatisfied and a short time before the deadly poison caused her death she declared this to be the reason for her rash act. The unfortunate woman procured the can of Paris green and with a small flat stick raked up and swallowed enough of the contents to kill a horse, but even then it was many hours before death ensued.

With the election which will decide the fate of the stock law on the south side of Neuse river in Craven county, less than a month distant, sentiment in favor of the law seems to be growing and those who are thoroughly familiar are positive that the measure will be carried.

The Newbern camp of the Woodmen of the World will be well represented at the big log rolling which will be held at Camp Gleun next Friday by the Morehead City camp of that order. Included in the program will be speeches made by many prominent Woodmen, including Congressman George E. Hood and others.

Fortune for Will Dixon.

A report from Pamlico county is to the effect that the United States government has offered to pay Will Dixon, of Oriental, $500,000 for his patent on an invention which will protect ships from attack with torpedoes. Mr. Dixon claims that, if given eight seconds notice, he can prevent a torpedo from striking a ship and can equip the vessel with his apparatus at a cost of $5,000. He went to Washington a few days ago to demonstrate the apparatus before the Naval Board and they were so much impressed with it that, it is claimed, the offer of this huge sum was made for the sole rights of its use.

D. S. Koonce, a blind man who lives at Ocean, in Carteret county, has perfected a system of placing the reproduction of a photograph of any one on a tombstone and declares that it cannot be effaced once it is there. With this invention put into practical service and general use, it will soon be possible to look upon the likeness of the departed while reading the inscription on his or her monument.

LIGHTNING KILLS AGED LADY

Miss Amelia Shaw, of New Berlin, Dies Five Hours After Being Struck While Eating.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New Berlin, N. C., Aug. 14.—Miss Amelia Shaw, aged 83 years, died yesterday afternoon as the result of being struck by lightning about five hours earlier, her suffering during these hours having been intense.

Yesterday about noon, during a thunderstorm, lightning struck the residence of Mr. Sebastian Hang, tore out one corner of the house and struck Miss Shaw, who was sitting in a chair in her room beside the bed eating her dinner. Her stomach and arms were badly burned. Her clothing was burned off in front, but the flames were quickly extinguished by Mr. Hang. Miss Shaw never regained consciousness, except for a few moments at a time. Being quite feeble, Miss Shaw was in her bed room adjoining the dining room where Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were eating dinner. The lightning damaged the dining room, but Mr. and Mrs. Hang were not hurt.

Miss Amelia Duncan Campbell Shaw was born near Edinburgh, Scotland, and came to this country just before the Civil War, making her home with her sister, Mrs. Peter Fenner, at Renkenkome, Long Island, N. Y. A few years ago, her sister having died, Miss Shaw and Mr. Fenner, both quite aged, came South for the winters here. He died a year and a half ago, leaving the aged lady without relatives, but not without friends. Since his death Mr. and Mrs. Hang have been living with Miss Shaw at her home, which place she gave them for their kindness to her.

ABERDEEN & ROCKFISH RAILROAD HEADS LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS.

Takes First $50 Membership in State Publicity Bureau.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 14.—Mr. W. A. Blue, superintendent of the Aberdeen & Rockfish Railroad, sets the pace that the rest of the State may make a note of. The day after the officers of the North Carolina State Bureau of Publicity at Greensboro arranged with Bion H. Butler to act as field secretary for the association, Mr. Blue met Mr. Butler on the street in Aberdeen.

"How many of your hundred men have come across with their $50 subscriptions so far?" Mr. Blue asked.

"None yet," was the reply. "We are just getting the preliminaries completed, and have not done anything yet."

"All right," said Mr. Blue, "Some of us folks here in the sandhills have to start most every good thing, so just put the Aberdeen & Rockfish road down at the head of your list."

John Blue, president of the Aberdeen & Rockfish Railroad, and Will A. Blue, the son, are two of the most energetic developers of North Carolina and the work they have accomplished along the line of their road is pointed out as an achievement of North Carolina energy and an example of North Carolina possibilities. The encouraging feature of the situation down their way is that they are constantly putting on a little more steam. It is this kind of men that have made the Sandhills conspicuous and who have put Hoke county on the map, and who are setting the pace for all the rest of the State. From 40 miles of wilderness ten or twelve years ago the Aberdeen & Rockfish road has made 40 miles of thriving farm communities.

EVENTS OF A WEEK IN AND ABOUT LUMBERTON

Tobacco Crop Turning Out Better Than Was Expected

Lumberton to Get Into the Movies—Ice Plant Probable—Baseball Holds Center of Interest—Many Summering.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 14.—This section has enjoyed another week of good growing weather, rain enough to keep everything growing and not enough to hurt anything. If nothing happens from now on, Robeson county farmers are going to have abundant crops to gather, especially corn.

The tobacco crop is turning out much better, it seems, than was anticipated. The Lumberton tobacco warehouse company is highly pleased at the amount of the product that is coming here to be sold, and the farmers seem to be well pleased with the prices they are receiving. With the competent management in charge of the Lumberton warehouse, it is a foregone conclusion that the season will prove to be a most satisfactory one.

Lumberton's health ordinance requiring all cooks, nurses and washwomen to stand examination and secure health certificates is proving a big success. Very few show any hesitancy to stand the examination, a number of which know they could not pass and will not make the attempt. All the town authorities desire is co-operation, and this will be the healthiest town to be found anywhere.

Within a few days the people who are to make a motion picture of Lumberton and vicinity will be here on the job, and it is earnestly hoped that all our people will take a lively interest in the project and help Lumberton send out one of the biggest and best advertisements it ever had. The promoters desire that verybody hereabouts be caught by the camera-man, so that they may be seen as others see them. And every front and back yard wants to be beautifully clean. Get ready.

The all-absorbing topic of conversation here these days is baseball. Your correspondent does not recall anything occurring here in the past that created so much interest among all classes. The Lumberton teams, composed of players from half a dozen or more states, is one of the finest aggregations of young men the writer ever met and the same rule applies to all visiting teams, all being composed of genteel good fellows.

Your correspondent will not make the statement for a certainty, but he does know that negotiations are going on which may result in the erection of an ice plant here by next spring. People away from Lumberton are investigation the matter. If the proposition is a success the plant will be operated by electricity. When the Yadkin power comes into Lumberton, several small industries will lay aside gasoline power and try electricity.

Mr. John P. McNeill, one of Lumberton's leading business men, who has been very ill for the past several days, was carried to a Philadelphia hospital last night, accompanied by Drs. McPhaul and Beam. Mr. McNeill is suffering from a head trouble which is of a nature to cause his family and friends much anxiety.

Messrs. R. D. Caldwell and son, Robert, H. H. Anderson and John Proctor arrived from Norfolk yesterday evening, coming in a new automobile which Mr. Caldwell purchased in that city. The new machine carries seven passengers and is of 50 horse-power capacity. The trip from Norfolk to Lumberton was made in 18 hours.

Mr. Dennis Biggs and family drove from Shelby to Lumberton yesterday in their automobile, coming via Spartanburg. Mr. Biggs says he found all the nails in the road between here and Shelby. Mr. T. L. Johnson came from Oxford in his car yesterday, making another good run.

One man who has been in business in Lumberton a short while is seeking a position on the chaingang. The officials know positively that he has been making an effort to have beer shipped in here under some other name. It is also known that while the shippers of wet goods would like to have business they are afraid to change brands and take chances.

Among the visitors in town are Mrs. Anabel Wishart Lane and two children, of Lake Charles, La., Mrs. Lane is the only daughter of the late Mr. Giles E. Wishart, who was born near Allenton, in this county, where he spent his early life.

Mrs. F. J. Thomas and children, who have been spending some time visiting at Henderson, returned home this morning.

At Hendersonville a few nights ago some Lumberton people got busy and took a census of visitors from Lumberton who are spending the summer there and found the number to be 29.

Mesdames T. C. Johnson and R. H. Crichton have returned from the mountains where they spent some time.

Eggs seems to be played out, so far as Lumberton is concerned. Very few are to be had at any price. Everything else is plentiful.

A class of orphans from the Odd Fellows orphanage at Goldsboro is advertised to give an entertainment at the opera house next Tuesday night, the 17th.

Recorder E. M. Britt and Assistant Recorder E. M. Johnson are both in the mountains, and during their absence Mr. H. E. Stacy is presiding over the recorder's court.

The Pastime theatre, which traveling people from home and abroad say is second to none in quality of pictures, is now running two Paramounts each week in addition to "The Exploits of Elaine" and "The Goddess" serials. The first three nights next week something new in the vaudeville line will be offered. But Lumberton has the best of everything. Beginning next Saturday the Pastime will run the Chaplin pictures each Saturday.

Passenger Conductors King, of the R. & C., and Weeden, of the C. & C. S., are enjoying their vacation.

Mrs. J. A. McAllister, accompanied by her son, Mr. W. P. McAllister, left this morning for Hendersonville, where they will spend some time.

Mayor White and family left this week for the western part of the State, traveling in their automobile.

Mrs. George M. Whitfield is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dan Shaw, at Laurinburg. W. S. W.

EXPEDITION UP MONT BLANC HEADED BY KINSTON MAN

Paris Edition of N. Y. Herald Tells of A. L. C. Hill's Feat.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 14.—The Paris edition of the New York Herald tells of the first expedition of the year up Mont Blanc, led by a Kinstonian, A. L. C. Hill. Hill is a noted long-distance walker, a National Guard staff captain, and when home, a cotton buyer and prominent in business circles. The Herald says the ascent "was made under the best possible conditions." With Captain Hill was Kenneth Dawson Othley, an Englishman, and Professor Piot, of Geneva, together with three Chamonix guides. Hill crossed a crevasse in the ice 15 feet wide on a ledge only three inches wide. The "human toboggan" was necessary at one point, where the party slided down a slope of 400 feet. People at the hotel at Chamonix watched the daring American, whose home before he came to Kinston some years ago was in Portsmouth, Va., through telescopes as he and his companions made the ascent. Floral tributes were purchased by the guests for the three adventurers. Hill went to France to observe the fighting at close range, and only recently went into Switzerland.

FINDS A CURE FOR PELLAGRA

Harvey, La.—Mrs. S. W. Spruiell, of this place, writes: "I suppose it will be a great pleasure to you to know that you cured my child. She had pellagra very bad and the doctor said she never would get well. She is well of pellagra and looks fine.

"You may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. Great benefit have you done my daughter, Mindie Abrams."

There is no longer any doubt that pellagra can be cured. Don't delay until it is too late. It is your duty to consult the resourceful Baughn.

The symptoms—hands red like sunburn, skin peeling off, sore mouth, the lips, throat and tongue a flaming red, with much mucus and choking; indigestion and nausea, either diarrhoea or constipation.

There is hope; get Baughn's big Free book on Pellagra and learn about the remedy for Pellagra that has at last been found. Address American Compounding Co., Box 2097, Jasper, Ala., remembering money is refunded in any case where the remedy fails to cure.—Adv.

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 14.—Sallie Amick, a white girl about 25 years of age, is at liberty from the Caswell Training school, the State institution for the feebleminded near here. The girl, believed to have been clad only in her night clothes, left the school before the morning assembling hour. She weighs only 115 pounds, has light hair, peculiar expression in eyes, and was possibly barefooted when she escaped. Her former home was at Liberty, N. C.

One of them, giving his name as William Best from Snow Hill, was arrested, but the other escaped. Best had 25 pints of whiskey in his suit case and the other grip contained 26 pints. The whiskey is in possession of the police and Best is in jail awating Superior court next month.

TOP O' THE MORNING

Some years ago from a sinking ship on Lake Erie, one man had brought seventeen persons safe to shore. His fame was noised abroad throughout the world and he was everywhere hailed as a hero. Some time after, when being praised for his great service, he said, "The memory of that day is not free from sadness, for I can't help wondering if any were lost whom I might have saved."

Is any one going down to death whom you might have saved?

—W. R. DOBYNS.

Carranza, like Villa and the rest of the factional leaders in Mexico, seems obsessed with the idea that he is the Mexican people.

Well, we are in the midst of the movies! And, of course, Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach will be on their good behavior until the snap-shooters have gone.

Oh, yes, Hopewell or City Point, Va., as you prefer to call it, is coming right along as an up-to-date municipality. She has just concluded a red-hot graft investigation and now she has a full-fledged strike on her hands.

General Venus, Carranza is quoted as saying that the Mexican people will not tolerate American interference with Mexico's internal affairs. Maybe so, but we have not heard from the Mexican people on the question yet.

According to reports, Lumberton has an epidemic on hand—it's the baseball fever. Well, that's not so bad. Bet Lumberton will be bidding for a franchise in the Virginia or Carolina League next year. The little city on the Lumbee might hold up her end of the log better than some towns in those leagues have done this year.

As usual, Virginia's big business again draws on North Carolina for a captain of industry. He is Homer L. Ferguson, formerly of Waynesville, N. C., and he becomes president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, succeeding Albert L. Hopkins, who was lost on the Lusitania. One of three brothers who have been prominent in naval construction, of course, he'll make good on this big job.

No, the new Mexican policy does not contemplate intervention, so far as has yet been revealed, and Secretary Lansing is authority for the statement that intervention was not even discussed in the inter-American conference on the situation in Mexico. Of course, intervention may be necessary ultimately, but for the present the administration is centering its thought in a supreme effort to bring about peace in Mexico through friendly means.

It is no surprise to those who know Superintendent W. A. Blue, of the Aberdeen & Rockfish railroad, that he headed the list of $50 memberships in the North Carolina Publicity Bureau, at the first opportunity after the plan was adopted for raising funds to prosecute the work of the organization. Superintendent Blue and his father, President John Blue, are exemplary captains of industry in the Sand Hill country, who are always to be found in the forefront of any movement for the development of North Carolina.

It turns out that Hon. R. A. Doughton has not yet stated that he will or will not be a candidate for attorney general. The latest is that his son, J. Kemp Doughton, says he thinks his father will yield to the insistence of his family and stay out of the race. First we are told that Mr. Doughton will certainly be in the race; then we are told he certainly will not. In fact, on the same day certain Raleigh correspondents sent out stories to the effect that the Alleghany man had definitely decided to announce his candidacy while other correspondents sent out stories exactly to the reverse. However, we are promised that we shall have word from Mr. Doughton himself in a very few days now.

THE NEW MEXICAN POLICY.

While no one can foretell what will be the ultimate outcome of the new plan which the Wilson administration has adopted in its long-suffering efforts to solve the Mexican problem, it appeals to us as the wisest step that could be taken at this time, and we share the hope of the administration that the friendly and urgent appeal which the United States, jointly with six South and Central American republics, has addressed to the leaders of the various factions may prove effective, to the end that peace may be brought about without the exercise of unfriendly means on the part of this country.

We were in sympathy with the President's policy of "watchful waiting" and we do not yet doubt the wisdom of it. As we see it, nothing has been lost by following that policy for a while. But the time has about arrived when it may be said that "watchful waiting" has served its day and decisive action is becoming necessary. Conditions in the war-worn and revolution-torn country to the south of us have about reached the point not only where patience ceases to be a virtue but where our obligations to other nations, under the Monroe Doctrine, must constrain us to take some action that will bring about a condition of affairs that will afford protection to lives and property of foreigners in Mexico, to say nothing of the duty of the American government to its own citizens who have interests in that country or who happen to live there. Under the Monroe Doctrine, the integrity of which the United tates cannot afford to have violated, no nation of the Old World can interfere in Mexican affairs, even to protect the lives of their own subjects. The obligation rests upon the United States exclusively.

In the execution of the new Mexican policy a supreme appeal has been made to all the leaders of all the factions in Mexico to join in an earnest effort to compose their differences and establish a constitutional government without further warfare. Under the plan a conference of representatives of the various factions would be held, as we understand it, for the purpose of agreeing upon terms for the establishment of a government which the United States and the Latin-American republics could recognize. It appears now that all factions will probably yield to the appeal, which was dispatched to Mexico Friday, with the exception of the Carranza element. When the "peace conference" is held, in response to the final appeal of the United States and the South and Central American republics, a new government for Mexico will be launched, with the support and cooperation of those factions who respond to the appeal.

This new government, under the present plan, would be recognized by the United States and the republics of South and Central America as constitutional. This recognition would put the new government in position to secure credit in the United States. At the same time it would have the moral support and backing of the American government and be free to purchase arms and ammunition in this country, while any faction refusing to support the new government and continuing to conduct a revolution would be placed in the embarrassing position of rebels. An embargo would prohibit them from securing arms and ammunition from this country, while they would be unable to get credit in the United States.

Under such conditions, it is not believed that it would require a great while for the recognized constitutional government, with the moral support of the United States government and credit in this country, to put down the revolutionary element, which would enjoy neither recognition nor credit but would be under the active condemnation of the American government.

Altogether, this new plan seems to be about the most probable solution of the Mexican problem yet even suggested.

COTTON AND THE WAR

About the most hopeful view of the cotton situation in connection with the great European war that we have seen is contained in some editorial observations of the Columbia State of Friday morning. Prefacing what it has to say with a word picture of the North and East waxing fat on war orders while the South sat by and watched its chief product fluctuating in the scales of values, down, down to a minimum, it then takes up the bombardment of the Dardanelles and the appearance of the Queen Elizabeth with its 15-inch guns, "belching their burden of hate" at the Turkish forts. Then came a statement in a "cotton letter" that every time one of "Big Lizzie's" guns spoke a bale of cotton was totally eliminated from consideration as a bear factor, bringing people to realize the new role of cotton in warfare. As a base for explosives, cotton was declared absolutely necessary. Now comes Sir Charles Macara, president of the Master Cotton Spinners of Great Britain, says the State, with an estimate that one thousand tons of cotton is consumed in every day's fighting of the War of Nations. The State newspaper reduces this to bales and shows that every day sees four thousand bales taken from the world's visible supply. A month's operations and over one million 500-pound bales are used. Extend the war six months and the State sees the surplus of the 1914 crop gone glimmering. Then with the 20 per cent. reduction of the 1915 crop, the South should be free from the self-imposed burden of overproduction and the 1915 crop, according to the newspaper's reasoning, ought to sell at somewhere near normal prices.

And who can deny that the war consumption of cotton did not go a long way towards contributing to the nearly normal exports last year? With the big programme of national defense that the United States will adopt in the very near future and its consequent call for much stored ammunition, who can say that the demand the coming year may not even exceed the demands for the South's great staple the past season?

ATLANTIC DEEPER WATERWAYS

With reconstructed ideas of our National policy that will, without a doubt, be imposed upon the coming regular session of Congress, there will be more than the usual interest in the forthcoming eighth annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association to be held in Savannah, Ga., November 9 to 12, 1915, and in the work of which, people in this section have always been deeply interested.

Whether an admitted broader National defense policy will curtail the available funds for internal improvements such as are promoted by organizations like the Deeper Waterways' Association, or whether the improvement of our rivers and harbors will be made to niche in with the general plan for the better protection of our seaboard, will be one of the questions that will doubtless be taken into consideration at the Savannah meeting. To the extent that our river and harbor improvements of the future can be made to serve a necessary purpose in the proper protection of our coasts, we believe that these improvements by the government will be measured in coming years more than ever before.

In fact, the adoption of a more satisfactory National defense policy, we believe, is going to have a marked effect on the government's policy towards river and harbor improvement in the future, and for this reason the Savannah meeting is going to be one of transcendent importance to the whole country. Delegates are expected to attend the Savannah meeting from every State from Maine to Florida.

The president and vice president of the United States, the governors of all the Atlantic States, mayors of principal cities and men of mark in every community are invited to attend. A large and successful meeting is in prospect. Mayor Davant has a committee in charge of a fine entertainment for the visitors on this occasion, including trips about the Savannah river and an inspection of the proposed inland waterway as it will touch Savannah and that section of the coast.

CURRENT COMMENT.

If the Tampa Tribune has any room left in its Society of Useless Noises, we want to enter the lads who sling about seven drinks under their Manhattans and start to argue about the war.—Columbia State.

Brother Davis, of the State Anti-Saloon League, will have to get out his patrol boat, for a whiskey ship seems to be trading along the coast. A suspicious craft has been sighted lying off Wrightsville Beach and its cargo is supposed to have had some connection with the undue amount of hilarity recently observable on the beach. The officers of the law were apprised of what was in the wind, but by time they could put out from shore on a voyage of investigation, the sails of the suspected craft were also in the wind. In the early days of prohibition in the State a light draft craft was outfitted at Baltimore with an assorted cargo of liquor and ventured up the Neuse river, but the enterprise met with exposure and failure. Peddling liquor by boat along-shore has been attempted at odd times, but has been found too precarious to make it a popular form of adventure. The Wrightsville liquor boat, however, is said to have had quite a run of luck until flushed off that beach.—Charlotte Observer.

Dr. N. P. Liles, county physician of Bladen, contributes to The Journal an official report on the prevalence of pellagra in that county. He is of opinion that there are from 200 to 300 cases among the people of Bladen. Some have pellagra and do not know it, as he proves by his experience with one particular lot of 18 patients. They consulted him for "vague troubles," and after diagnosis he treated them for pellagra, keeping charts and records. Eleven made rapid recovery, improving in strength and gaining from 10 to 30 pounds in weight. None of the patients had eruptions on the hands, from which the conclusion is arrived at that some people are suffering from the disease under the delusion that it is some other character of affliction. Dr. Liles has organized a campaign against pellagra on prophylactic, agricultural and curative treatment. The prophylactic, or preventive treatment, calls for the enforcement of hygienic and sanitary measures, in particular a war "against flies, mosquitoes, bed bugs and rats." The agricultural treatment is instruction in diet, and the third method calls for the taking in hand of all curable cases and putting them through a course of hygiene and nourishment. Dr. Liles has much faith in the effectiveness of the campaign now under way in Bladen and entertains reasonable hopes for the eradication of the disease in time.—Charlotte Observer.

IS OUR NEUTRALITY IMMORAL?

(New York Journal of Commerce.)

Professor Kuno Francke, of Harvard University, is one of those American citizens of German origin who cannot help having a strong sympathy for his fatherland and its people, and at the same time a strong sense of loyalty to the Government of which he is a subject and the institutions under which he lives. He has tried to exert a restraining influence upon the tendency to division on racial lines among American citizens and to inculcate the duty of sustaining the Government in its attitude of neutrality. He says in a brief letter to The Times that he has advocated non-interference with the traffic in arms and munitions, although it is "of decided advantage to one of the belligerents and of very serious disadvantage to the other." He admits that its inhibition "would be equally to the advantage of one of the belligerents and to the disadvantage of the other," and "would make the United States in a much stricter sense legally a partisan of one of the warring powers than mere non-interference with the traffic does."

This is a rational view, but at the same time Professor Francke, who is an ardent advocate of peace among nations, feels constrained to believe that this is no longer a question of international legality only, but "has come to be a vital question of national and international morality." He asks: "Is it moral, from a national point of view, that the United States, a nation which officially stands for the policy of peace and against excessive armament, should now permit within its own borders the manufacture of arms on so large a scale that this industry bids fair to become one of the leading industries of the country?" He fears that it will give rise to a set of capitalists whose interests will be so identified with war that it will foster the war spirit among masses of people. He deprecates this traffic as making this country a participant in the "gigantic carnage which is now devastating Europe," and enabling it to thrive upon the destruction.

He fears that this might finally come to be "one of the decisive factors in the issue of this war," and asks whether it would be an issue to which the United States "would have reason to point with pride as a victory of international morality." Would that not be the result, he asks, "of a positive assistance from this country to one of the warring groups, which could not any longer be reconciled with moral neutrality?" Right there the learned and well-meaning professor shows just where his latent sympathy gets the better of his avowed Americanism, and he does not see what the real issue is to the American mind. It is the issue between Prussian militarism, which brought on this war ,is responsible for the carnage that is devastating Europe and is seeking to dominate government generally, and the American theory of "government of the people, for the people, by the people," toward which other nations have been tending. For such an issue most real Americans will rejoice at "positive assistance from this country" to settle it on the side of popular representative government, and will regard the neutrality that permits it in the highest sense nationally and internationally "moral," the greatest service that can be rendered to the nations of the world and their people including those of Germany.

DOCTOR CALDWELL

(Contributed.)

Gone from the busy walks of men his form, his face,
Gone one whose humanity knew no bounds, no creed, no race;
His great vision took in all the full horizon of the sea of life,
Beholding its joys, its sorrows, its struggles, its strife.
Love filled his heart when humanity pressed her needs;
It nerved all his powers until pregnant with his deeds,
Souls suffering from sickness and want and sorrow were freed.
They rejoiced in the Lord who made such a man
To minister his blessings with such a free hand,
Till all who knew him, knew him but to praise
And wish for him sincerely many long and happy days.
But, stranger than fiction, we cannot tell why,
Dr. Caldwell was suddenly called on to die—
Snatched as it were in the prime of his life
From his home, from his friends, from his fond-loving wife.
But in the ways of Jehovah, inscrutible to man,
In infinite wisdom he devises the plan
To meet every crisis in this warring world of ours,
To make our lives purer, more God-like all our powers,
To adorn with our presence His throne;
Or as jewels to make up his crown.
But life is strange indeed.
John the Baptist was beheaded in the prime of life;
Saint Paul lived noblest when beset with care and strife.
What then this world, tho short be our days,
If they are packed with good and well-earned praise?
Should we not bow in sweet submission to every act of God,
Seeing our light affliction worketh an exceeding great reward?
Gone but not forgotten, in hallowed dust he sleeps,
His loving memory cherished, and Wilmington, white and colored, weeps.

DOUGHTON HASN'T SAID YET

His Son Believes He Will Not Be a Candidate for Attorney General —Charters.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 14.—National Bank Examiner J. Kemp Doughton, son of Hon. R. A. Doughton, here today, caused another slump of stock in the probable candidacy of his distinguished father for the office of attorney general in the next Democratic primaries. He said that he received a letter today from his father in which he wrote that he will within the next day or two definitely settle this matter of his candidacy by a final announcement. J. Kemp Doughton added that he believes his father will finally yield to the strenuous opposition of members of his family to his becoming attorney general and will announce his decision to not be a candidate.

He and other members of the family believe that anxiety about his affairs in Alleghany county while kept in Raleigh discharging the duties of attorney general would prove such a source of worry as to impair his health, if not shorten his life by a number of years. Anyway, the whole matter is to be settled and out of the way within a very few days, according to Kemp Doughton.

MOVIE EXHIBITORS COME TO CONVENTION

Business Sessions Will Begin Monday Morning.

Pictures Made of Crowds in City Yesterday at Union Station and of Fire and Police Departments—Beach Next.

Every train yesterday brought exhibitors and their friends to attend the convention of the North Carolina Motion Picture Exhibitors' League convention, now in session at the Oceanic Hotel, Wrightsville Beach. The Charlotte delegation alone, arriving at noon yesterday, numbered about 20. A large number will be in on the morning trains today, 25 or more being scheduled to arrive from Fayetteville, with large numbers from other points.

The business sessions will be held at the Oceanic Hotel tomorrow morning, opening at 10 o'clock. The welcoming addresses will be delivered by Mayor P. Q. Moore and Mayor Thos. H. Wright, of Wrightsville Beach. The response will be made by a visiting exhibitor, after which Hon. H. L. Godwin will speak. He will be followed by Mr. H. B. Varner, of Lexington, who, besides owning a picture show at Lexington, is the editor and publisher of the Lexington Dispatch and Southern Good Roads Magazine. Other talks will be made by exhibitors and representatives of the various film companies, many of which will be in attendance from Atlanta, Washington, Charlotte and other distributing centers.

Today at noon the canoe races will be photographed by the camera man, and at 3:45 o'clock scenes of beach cars crossing the tresale will be made. At 4:30 the bathing scenes will be taken at the Seashore Hotel, and Capt. Edgar L. Hinton, chairman of this committee, is especially desirous of a very large crowd being in bathing at that time. All the bath houses on the beach are prepared to do a record-breaking business, and there will doubtless be many hundreds in the surf.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the visiting ladies will be given a boat ride on the sound, and movies will be made, also of the Mayor, City Council, Congressman Godwin and Mayor Wright on board Captain Marine's boats on the sound. At 12, noon, the entire gathering will be photographed on the steps of the Oceanic Hotel, and at 12:30 the dancing scenes at Lumina will be taken.

Probably the last scenes to be taken will be at 3 P. M., when the Seaboard surgeons' convention at the Seashore Hotel, with Mayor Wright and the Board of Aldermen of Wrightsville Beach will be photographed.

Yesterday's Work.

The arrival of the Seaboard train, bringing a large number of exhibitors, was photographed yesterday. The Hanover Concert Band was on the job on a large truck of the Murray Transfer Company, and after taking a scene of five beach cars loading, the exhibitors were transferred to automobiles and taken through to Wrightsville Sound, pictures of the roads being made en route.

Yesterday afternoon the entire fire and police departments in action and in review before Mayor Moore and City Council, was taken on Third street, several hundred feet being tapeh there. Portions of the work done each day have been developed, and points to a very successful production, every part having been good so far.

BOUND OVER TO COURT.

Several Interesting Cases in Recorder's Court Yesterday.

Roscoe Hall, colored, who was arrested under two warrants about a month ago, had just finished his sentence of 30 days on the county roads on the first one, which was for beating a ride on a freight train, when he was arraigned before the Recorder yesterday on the second warrant, which was for breaking into a car. In this case he was bound over to Superior Court under a $100 bond.

George Lewis, colored, pleaded guilty to stealing a set of buggy harness from W. T. Ritter, and was sentenced to three months on the roads.

Philip Alexander, colored, is now working out a sentence imposed on him yesterday by Recorder Empie of 60 days on the roads, for stealing $1 from the cash drawer of the Independent Ice Company. Judgment was suspended against Chas. Holliday, colored, for gambling, on payment of costs. The case against Ernest Dacis in which he is charged with an assault on a female will have another hearing August 30. Estelle Bolder, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, will be tried Monday. John T. Aiken, colored, charged with an assault, was discharged on payment of costs.

MANUFACTURING FISH PRODUCTS.

Charleston Company Operates in Cape Fear Below Wilmington.

An extended articles in the Charleston (S. C.) Evening Post of recent date tells of a firm of Charleston men who own and operate what is known as "The Carolina Fish & Oil Company," the largest fish scrap fertilizer and fish oil plant south of the Chesapeake Bay. The plant is located 18 miles from Wilmington down the Cape Fear river toward Southport. It includes a fishing fleet, factory and equipment for facilitating efficient production and transportation.

The plant was formerly owned by Northern capital. Two years ago it burned and a far less expensive plant, costing about $100,000, was put in its place. The capacity of the plant now is about 20,000 barrels of fish per day. The products of the factory are acid fish scrap, dried fish scrap and fish oil. Capt. J. F. Bussells, of Southport, is general manager of the firm.

GRAND RALLY TODAY.

Public Invited to Attend Exercises in St. Stephen's A. M. E. Church.

Mayor Moore and Mr. W. H. Sprunt are expected to attend a part of the exercises and the Acme Male Quartette will sing.

BERRY GROWERS ORGANIZE

Meeting Held at Rose Hill Yesterday. Mr. W. R. Camp, of Raleigh, Made Address—In Columbus.

Mr. W. R. Camp, head of the bureau of markets of the State Department of Agriculture, and Mr. J. P. Herring, county farm demonstrator of New Hanover, attended a meeting of the berry growers held at Rose Hill yesterday for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization. These gentlemen also attended a meeting of the growers at Chadbourn and Tabor in Columbus county on Friday. Mr. Camp returned to Raleigh last night and was accompanied by Mr. Herring, who will spend several days there in attendance upon the State convention of the farm demonstration agents.

Mr. W. S. Whitehead, associate editor of the Carolina Fruit and Truckers' Journal, attended the meetings at Chadbourn and Tabor and stated yesterday that both were well attended. The meeting at Tabor was held on Friday morning and a permanent organization was effected with the following officers: President, Mr. Minos Meares; vice president, Mr. E. C. Watson; secretary, Mr. J. W. Jordan; treasurer, Mr. F. L. Fipps.

Mr. Whitehead said that this was a very enthusiastic meeting and that with a few exceptions the growers there are heartily in favor of having a live organization.

A meeting of the growers was held at Chadbourn Friday afternoon and the various points in connection with organization were discussed, but it was decided to wait until September 12th to perfect the organization. Mr. A. McKenzie is the temporary president.

While the organizations have not been sufficiently completed as yet to outline plans for handling next year's crop, it is already practically assured that Mr. C. E. Haskett, who was the capable sales agent of the Wilmington Co-Operative Truckers' Association during the past season, will act in a similar capacity for the berry growers in Columbus county. He can look out for their interests without interfering with his duties in New Hanover as the berry season does not open until the lettuce season is practically ended. These plans, however, are merely tentative as yet. Mr. Haskett by reason of his wide experience and his familiarity with freight rates is well equipped for looking after the shipment of produce and is now acting as sales agent for the Carolina Potato Exchange at Elizabeth City.

NEW PLAN FOR GIVING.

Mrs. E. May Glenn Toon Has Receptacles Placed on Streets for Funds.

Mrs. E. May Glenn Toon, who is in charge of the Clara Barton Memorial Mission in Wilmington, has originated a new plan for securing contributions to the support of this institution. With the consent of the Mayor and the chief of police she has placed large receptacles at Front and Princess streets and also in front of the Grand theatre for the reception of donations of money. These are painted red and are in the form of a megaphone with the inscription, "Sacred to Home Charity." Mrs. Toon expects to place these receptacles in other parts of the city.

Mrs. Toon said yesterday that she planned to introduce this form of giving to home charity in all the leading cities of the country. Her idea is to secure the co-operation of a large body of citizens who will each week give a small amount to the support of the needy, both white and colored.

Mrs. Toon said that the receptacles in Wilmington will be unlocked each night by some trustworthy gentleman who will deposit the funds in some bank in the city. She stated that there are no salaries paid the workers at the Clara Barton Memorial Mission.

Mrs. Toon plans to have the funds secured in different cities, in the manner she has suggested, used in supporting missions which will be operated as a memorial to Clara Barton, the founder of the American Red Cross.

NOT TO TAKE OVER HOSPITAL

Group of Local Physicians Have Not Purchased Harper's Sanitarium. Will be Continued.

It has been romored for several days that Harper's Sanitarihm would be taken over by a group of local physicians and surgeons but such arrangements have not yet been completed. However, negotiations to this end have been in progress for several days but it is understood that no agreement has yet been reached between them and those in charge of the estate of the late Dr. Chas. T. Harper, founder of the hospital.

Dr. Joseph Akerman, a well known physician and surgeon of this city, is in temporary charge of the sanitarium, looking after its affairs in addition to his private practice. The sanitarium will be continued in operation, and definite arrangements for its operation will likely be made in the near future.

It is understood that two physicians from Pennsylvania and one or more from this State are in the city with a view of buying or leasing the Sanitarium, which has been so successfully conducted here for several years.

Funeral of Mrs. Thompson.

The funeral of Mrs. Minnie Thompson, wife of Mr. W. E. Thompson, whose death Friday afternoon brought grief to her many friends, was held yesterday morning from the church at Fourth and Wright streets, conducted by Rev. Mr. Harvell. Interment was in Bellevue cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. H. Williams, A. Thomas, A. B. Chinnis and J. T. Matthews.

Steamer Wilmington Goes at 9 a. m.

It was stated in an advertisement in yesterday morning's paper that the steamer Wilmington would leave for her first trip at 9:30 a. m. In correction of this error, The Star is requested to state that the steamer Wilmington will leave the wharf at the foot of Princess street at 9 a. m.

Caught Big Turtle.

Messrs. Neil Walton and J. M. Hewlett caught a large turtle weighing 100 pounds or more at Masonboro Inlet yesterday while seining for fish. The turtle was large enough to carry a man without trouble. After being kept ashore for a while the turtle was allowed to return to the water.

CHICKEN THIEF IS NABBED

Henry McLean Came to Grief When He Used Too Much Sulphur in Mr. W. M. Creasy's Hen House.

The pungent odor of burning sulphur at 3 o'clock yesterday morning woke some of the neighbors of Mr. W. M. Creasy, No. 805 Ann street, and incidentally led to the capture of a chicken thief whom the police have been endeavoring to trap for the past twelve months or longer.

At the early hour, when the breeze was quite calm, neighbors of Mr. Creasy detected the odor of sulphur and woke Mr. Creasy who investigated the source of the "sulphurics" and found in his hennery, in the back yard, a complete equipment for burning sulphur with several fine chicks already overcome by the fumes and lying on the ground. The thief, noting lights in the houses, made away and Mr. Creasy called up the police station and was advised to out all lights and retire as if nothing had happened. Meantime Sergeant Joe Lane was dispatched to the residence and the men on adjoining beats were summoned by the police call system and advised to keep a close watch for the return of the thief.

He returned all right and just as he had bagged four of the fine fowls in a tow sack and started off down street, he was halted by Officer J. O. Bullard with Sergeant Lane close in his wake. The two officers took the chicks and the negro in charge, returned to Mr. Creasy's residence, had the fowls fully identified and the thief—Henry McLean, colored, No. 719 South Tenth street—was locked up at the police station. Yesterday in Recorder's court he drew a full six months on the county roads.

Periodically for the past year, hen houses and coops in various sections of the city have been raided; the fowls being overcome with sulphur fumes and carried away without noise of any kind, but the officers, while having strong suspicions of McLean, were not able to identify and effect his capture with the "goods" on him until early yesterday morning. The negro works at one of the fertilizer factories up the river and is supposed to have been disposing of the stolen chickens at a restaurant kept by a colored woman near ehe factory where he worked.

ANOTHER "CHANGE" SWINDLER

Disappeared With Money Sent With Delivery From Hall's Pharmacy.

Another "change" swindler got in his work at the expense of Hall's Cash Pharmacy, Fifth and Castle street, last night a little after 10 o'clock.

Some one called up the drug store, representing himself to be Mr. Joe Curtis, who lives a few blocks distant from the store, ordered about 40 cents worth of toilet articles and kindly asked the clerk to send $5 in change with the goods in order that he might settle with the boy. Mr. Hall conducts his business on the cash on delivery basis and has many such requests each day, therefore, thought nothing of the request. The boy delivered the articles to Mr. Curtis' home, but a negro met him on the porch, the boy delivered the package and the negro took the change and said he would go around the house to get the bill to give the boy. He promptly jumped the fence and disappeared, the store being out just $4.60 on the transaction. Mr. Curtis was awakened by the commotion and joined in the pursuit, but the negro was nowhere to be seen.

ROBBERY ON NORTH FIFTH.

Residence of Dr. John C. Wessell Plundered Thursday Night.

When the family of Dr. John C. Wessell arose Friday morning, they found every room down-stairs had been ransacked by some kind of intruder, but all that was reported as missing was a small savings bank containing $2.50. Silverware and other articles were where they might have been seen by the robbers, but were untouched. Entrance was affected through window in the kitchen. The family lives upstairs and were not disturbed by the plunderers. A report was made Friday morning to the police station and officers were sent to investigate.

AT ST. PAUL'S TODAY.

Rev. J. B. Gibble to Preach This Morning—New Rector Called.

Rev. J. B. Gibble, of Burlington, who is visiting friends and relatives in the city, will conduct the services at St. Paul's Episcopal church this morning at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. Immediately after the service there will be a meeting of the vestry.

Rev. H. St. George Burrill, who is curate of St. Agnes' Chapel, of Trinity Parish, New York City, has been called as rector but has not yet signified whether or not he will accept.

CARGO COTTON FOR ITALY.

Steamer Citta d Messina Sailed Yesterday With 6,726 Bales.

The Italian steamer Citta di Messina, 1,557 tons, Captain Nsera, which has been in the Wilmington port since Tuesday, sailed yesterday for Genoa. It carried a cargo of 6,726 bales of cotton, which was taken on at the wharf of the Champion Compress, the cotton being consigned by Alexander Sprunt & Son. The vessel arrived from Genoa Tuesday, bringing no cargo.

Police Department Changes.

Effective tonight Councilman J. M. Hall, in charge of the Police Department, has tranefrred Officer M. G. Gray from duty as a patrolman to night chauffeur at headquarters, succeeding Chauffeur William T. Hansley, who joins the bicycle squad. Mr. Hansley is live, aggressive and athletic and will be a valuable addition to the squad. He has done a splendid service the past seven years at the station and the transfer will doubtless be pleasing to him. Officer Gray is one of Wilmington's "finest" and has been an active officer since the late unpleasantness here in 1898. While the transfer does not increase his rank, his duties will be much more pleasant and having mastered the intricacies of the "black maria," he will be a valuable man at his new post.

Cotton Opens at Gibson Station.

A representative of the Jacobi Hardware Company of this city was traveling the past week in Scotland and Robeson counties and Marlboro, S. C., where he noticed that cotton was opening up there and says it was stated to him that gins would be operating in ten days. A few bolls that were gathered at Gibson Station were brought to The Star office.

DAUGHTRIDGE ACCEPTS INVITATION TO SPEAK

At Labor Day Celebration at Wrightsville Beach.

Lieutenant Governor and Congressman H. L. Godwin on Programme for Addresses—Athletic Events Will be a Feature.

Lieut. Gov. E. L. Daughtridge, of Rocky Mount, and Congressman H. L. Godwin, of Dunn, will be the speakers at the celebration to be held at Wrightsville Beach on Labor Day, which comes this year on Monday, September 6th. Congressman Godwin accepted several days ago an invitation to make an address on this occasion, but it was not known definitely until yesterday whether or not Mr. Daughtridge could come. In connection with the addresses and other features, which will be under the auspices of the Wilmington Trades Council, there will also be athletic events at Lumina.

While the complete programme for the celebration has not yet been made out, it is planned to take the speakers and other guests for a ride around the Masonboro loop before going to the beach at 11 o'clock when the athletic events begin. The addresses will be made at Lumina and following the exercises there, the guests of the Trades Council will be given dinner at one of the hotels.

The Labor Day celebrations at Wrightsville Beach are always big occasions and are usually attended by several thousand people. Governor Craig and Chief Justice Clark were the speakers last year.

The Wilmington Trades Council, which has charge of the araringements for the occasion, has appointed the following chairmen for the different committees: Advertising, Mr. C. H. Huband; speakers, Messrs. W. A. Furlong and R. H. Burriss; transportation, Messrs. C. H. Huband and L. Riordan.

A committee of the Wilmington Street Department is making arrangements for a celebration to be held at Carolina Beach on Labor Day. The committee is composed of Messrs. J. W. Smith, chairman; O. H. Croom and J. H. Williams. Music will be furnished by Russell's orchestra. There will be a number of other features.

CONCERT THIS AFTERNOON

Whitlock-West Orchestra to Play at Carolina Beach Today.

The Whitlock-West Orchestra, Prof. Henri Georges, director, will give a concert at Carolina Beach this afternoon. An interesting programme has been prepared which is as follows: Overture, "Greetings," by Mahl; Rag Novelette, "Kentucky Rosebuds" by Lange; Valse Hesitation, "Elaine" by Baxter; Medley Overture, "Remick's Hits, No. 15" by Lampe; two-step, "You Wore a Tulip and I Wore a Big Red Rose" by Wenrich; Excerpts from the Musical Farce, "High Jinks" by Friml; Fox Trot, "Sam Fox" by Howard; two-step "When My Ship Comes In" by Von Tilzer; Fantasia, "My Old Kentucky Home" by Langley; one-step "Somebody Knows" by Von Tilzer.

Coincident of Names Hudgins.

The steamer Allegheny is filling schedule between Charleston and points North for another steamship at present. It is a coincidence that the captain of the ship that is relieving and the ship that is being relieved both have the name Hudgins. Captain Hudgins of the Allegheny, has been confused locally with Captain Hudgins, who is well known here, having formerly been on the B. & C. steamer Henry Williams.

METTS MAY SUCCEED CARR

P C Carlton, of Charlotte, Starts Agitation for Wilmington Man as Commander.

Gen. P. C. Carlton, of the First Brigade of North Carolina Veterans, has started a movement for the election of Gen. James I. Metts, of Wilmington, as commander of the North Carolina division of Confederate Veterans, to succeed General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, who has been elected as commander of the Army of Northern Virginia. The New Hanover veterans will hold a special meeting at the W. L. I. armory this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when it is expected that a resolution will be adopted endorsing General Metts for the place. General Metts is at present commander of the local camp.

General Carlton in a letter in yesterday's Charlotte Observer, praises General Metts highly and urgently insists that all veterans in the State lend their support to the beloved general, as one of the most worthy men in the State. In the same issue the Observer comments editorially on the prospect of electing General Metts to succeed General Carr with the following: "General Metts fully measures up to the words spoken of him and we have no doubt the nomination will be amply seconded."

There will be no reunion of the North Carolina division this year as no city in the State has been able to see its way to issue them an invitation. Hence the election will have to be made through a delegation that will meet in Raleigh during the State fair.

PROFICIENCY MEDAL GIVEN

Corporal J H Morse, of W. L. I., Honored at Encampment.

The medal for proficiency, offered the past year to the member of the Wilmington Light Infantry making the best showing in the work of the organization, was awarded at the annual encampment at Fort Caswell to Corporal J. H. Morse. The presentation was made by Major Kuydendall, commanding officer of the Coast Artillery Corps of the North Carolina National Guard.

Corporal Morse made a most excellent record for the year, being neither absent nor tardy at a single meeting or exercise and also being the winner in the competitive drill. He also won honorable mention for excellence in caring for equipment in his charge. He was warmly congratulated by his comrades for having made such a splendid record.

WILL SCALE HOTEL BUILDING

"Satanet" to Give Thrilling Exhibition at Hotel Wilmington Monday Afternoon at 6:30 O'clock.

With scarcely more than a half inch marking the dividing line between life and the grave, "Satanet," as he is popularly known, will scale the walls of the Hotel Wilmington Monday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock. "Satanet" is known in private life as H. H. Gardiner and is a most likable fellow. He will arrive in Wilmington today.

The Hotel Wilmington is seven stories in height and the projections on the wall are but little more than a half inch. "Satanet" will make the climb with his fingers. From one floor to another he will make the dangerous ascent, using only the tips of his fingers to support himself on the bare wall.

At times during the trip he will turn so that he may smile on the throng below, holding with the fingers of one hand, and incidentally will tell something of the merits of a new soft drink. Also he will hold himself clear from the wall by the fingers and will do many other stunts for the hundreds of people who are expected to witness the exhibition. The strength in his fingers is said to be astounding. He says it makes no difference to him whether he is ten feet or one hundred feet above the ground.

He has made hundreds of climbs up the sides of buildings ranging from five to 22 stories in height. Neither his nerve nor his fingers have ever failed him, although he took a tumble of 40 feet a few weeks ago when he attempted to climb the dome of the State capitol in Columbia, S. C. He broke three ribs and had to stay in the hospital for some time but he nas recently made a number of difficult climbs on tall buildings. He apparently thought little of the accident that befell him in Columbia, stating that he took a hazardous chance in attempting to make a leap of eight feet and the wall being wet his hand slipped.

All he requires is a wall with slight projections so that he may get a grip with the finger tips. Getting a hold on each projection he draws himself up another notch and makes his way slowly and surely to the top.

TRADE AT HOME

Give the Local Merchant the benefit of your trade, and by so doing keep money at home.

No community can prosper by foreign buying.

The secret of community prosperity is to sell more to the outsider than the outsider sells to us, thus making the trade balance run in our favor.

This policy brings in more wealth than goes out, and constantly adds to local resources.

It makes better business, higher wages, and a more prosperous community.

Best Treatment for Catarrh S. S. S. Removes the Cause

Specialists in Catarrh troubles have agreed that it is an infection of the blood. The laboratories of the S. S. S. Co., at Atlanta, have proven it. Once you get your blood free from impurities—cleansed of the Catarrhal poisons, which it is now a prey to because of its unhealthy state—then you will be relieved of Catarrh—the dripping in the throat, hawking and spitting, raw sores in the nostrils, and the disagreeable bad breath. It was caused, in the first place, because your impoverished blood was easily infected. Possibly a slight cold or contact with someone who had a cold. But the point is—don't suffer with Catarrh—it is not necessary. The remedy S. S. S., discovered over fifty years ago, tested, true and tried, is always obtainable at any drug store. It has proven its value in thousands of cases. It will do so in your case. Get S. S. S. at once and begin treatment. If yours is a long standing case, be sure to write the S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga., for free expert medical advice. They will tell you how this purely vegetable blood tonic cleanses the impurities from the blood by literally washing it clean. They will prove to you that thousands of sufferers from Catarrh, after consistent treatment with S. S. S., have been freed from the trouble and all its disagreeable features and restored to perfect health and vigor. Don't delay the treatment. Take S. S. S. at once.

CAROLINA COLLEGE
That Co-Operative Plan.
By S. E. Mercer, President.

Inasmuch as the Star goes into the homes of many of the friends and patrons of Carolina College, it may be interesting to speak briefly of the new work we are undertaking at this time.

Last spring we had the opportunity to purchase a new house adjoining the College campus, well finished and equipped with water and electric lights. So we traded for the house and immediately determined to use it as a Co-operative Club where young ladies, who for financial reasons could not board in the dormitory, might reduce their board to less than half by doing their own house-keeping. Recently a loyal layman of our church who wishes his name withheld for the present, offered to pay for the house and lot and donate it to the College for the above named purpose.

This house will be in charge of a competent matron, and the girls will do their own housework. They may do their own laundry also if they so desire.

We consider this a magnificent opportunity for those young ladies who desire an education and are willing to do a little work to get it. This plan will not interfere in any way with the regular boarding department. We have room yet for about twenty young ladies under this arrangement.

Young ladies who board with the Club will have the same advantages and will be under the same regulations as the students in the dormitory.

The development of Carolina College has been so rapid that a great many of our friends cannot fully realize what has been accomplished. In less than four years the value of the College plant has been increased from forty one thousand to one hundred and forty-five thousand dollars. By contrasting our boarding department with a number of other schools, we find only one, so far as we have gone that has had a larger number of students in the boarding department when it had been in operation no longer than Carolina College.

When we consider the fact that we are in the midst of the cotton belt, this is indeed a good showing.

We have been remarkably fortunate, also, in the class of students we have had. They have come from good homes and have been for the most part, studious and serious minded.

Some of our patrons were so thoroughly discouraged last year that they decided to keep their daughters out of school. Many of these same patrons have decided, and that very wisely, that the daughters in the home must be educated war or no war, panic or no panic. They realize that there will be many good years after the war is over, but that there is only one period when a young woman can get the most out of a college education. The financial value of an education to a young woman is very small when compared with the whole value to her, but even when put upon this basis, it certainly pays to educate.

One of our young women, for instance, borrowed the money to complete her education. She is now in a position which pays her seventy-five dollars per month. What she has done many others can do.

Our Normal course, which we have recently put in, is a great opportunity for those young women who desire to become really efficient teachers in the public schools of the State, and yet do not wish to take the full literary course leading to the A. B. degree. This course has been highly endorsed by county superintendents and others and is going to be of great benefit to the young teachers of this section.

In addition to the regular course in Bible, the college offers a good course in Sunday school teacher training and Mission study. This is designed to be of especial help to those students who wish to become really efficient Christian workers. We are greatly pleased with the work that some of our girls are doing already along this line.

Rev. S. E. Mercer.

Kennedy Raids Illicit Stills.

J. R. Kennedy, United States deputy revenue collector, has returned from Goldsboro with the report that he had captured three whiskey stills in Wayne county near Goldsboro and one in Duplin. At one of the stills he captured two teams and other equipment to a distilling outfit. The violators were bound over to the Federal Court authorities in Newbern. Mr. Kennedy says that he received valuable assistance from the United States Marshall at Goldsboro.

A large crowd attended the week-end dance given at Lumina last night. As a special feature souvenirs were given to the dancers. These were imitation Panama hats and white "blow outs", which added much to the gayety of the crowds, creating much merriment. Music by the Don Richardson Orchestra was fine and several of the numbers played were Don Richardson's own compositions. The most popular of these was "Hezekiah," one of his latest hits.

"Buy It In Wilmington" Even Though It Be Furniture and You Do Not Buy It From Us---"Buy It In Wilmington"

Let's help the town; let's help ourselves in helping the town. We all owe something to our community. There is too little civic pride expressed, and to "cast bread upon the waters" you should do it for some one else; and any good act should be done for the goodness of the act only. Wilmington has resources enough to make her a 100,000 town in ten years. She is peculiarly situated, even though the War continues indefinitely to become a great trading point of exchange.

All we need to make Wilmington grow is to give her our individual support. If Jacoby does charge you a cent a bar more for soap, 99 per cent of his profit goes to help home conditions. So let's all practice this logic for a while. If we can't sell you your furniture for less, quality considered, then we don't want to sell you. We have but one fear, and we do not have the fear of this fear overtaking us: That is a dissatisfied customer.

We are probably more fortunately situated in that we buy it for less, and, besides, it is not a question of our getting rich today, tomorrow or next week. It's our first aim to give you satisfaction; it's our first ambition for you to say: You served me well. This is our life task, and after all, if we do not wax strong in the world's goods, if we have served you well in conscientiously doing our best, we have fiilled as we modestly understand it, a part of the Golden Rule.

We are glad to say that our stock is daily nearing a replete Furniture Store, and some day we hope to serve you, if not now.

THREE DAYS WITH OTTOMAN SOLDIERS ON FIRING LINE

Turkish Forces Face Galling Fire of Allied Armies With Such Bravery and Determination That Efforts of the Latter Have Often Been Disappointing.

(Correspondence of Associated Press)

Kirthia, Gallipoli Peninsula, Turkey, July 21.—To be, for three days, on the firing line with the Ottoman forces facing the Allies' armies in this field of operations is an experience which so far as is known only the Associated Press correspondent has enjoyed up to this time.

Field Marshal Liman Von Sanders Pacha had previously indicated that the situation of the Turks had no secrets in its make up. Essad Pacha, commander of the Ottoman North Group, at this writing, holding in check the British at Ari Bournow, was willing also that the region under his control be visited, and Weber Pacha, commanding the South group, operating against the Allied force at Sid-el-Bahr, merely asked what was desired to be seen.

He summoned one of his aides and instructed him to take the correspondent wherever he wanted to go.

In approaching Weber Pacha's camp it was demonstrated that it is as dangerous behind the modern front as in the firing line. The Allies were giving much attention to a Turkish trench, shot high, missed the trenches, with the result that the bullets by that time almost totally spent, flew over the summit and hummed past the heads of the party.

It was 2:30 p. m. when the camp was reached. General Weber had been taking a nap, but accepted an unintended interruption good-naturedly.

"No objection at all," said Weber Pacha, after he had read a letter from Liman Pacha, in which the correspondent was given permission to visit the North and South groups—provided their commanders had no objection. Then followed the part of the conversation already given.

The situation was most favorable to the Ottoman forces, he continued. Had it not been that the Allied ships literally overwhelmed the peninsula with artillery fire during the landing operations, not a single British or French soldier would have set foot ashore. But for days and days the Allied ships had bombarded every square yard on the southern extreme of the peninsula, making it impossible to move the Ottoman troops, without exposing them to almost instant annihilation. But day after day the Turks dug more trenches and improved them. Then it was that the Allied land forces ran into a wall of Turkish pluck and endurance.

In those days Weber Pacha was in command of the Ottoman forces behind Kum Kale. Here the French tried their luck. General Weber forced them back. The operations against the Asiatic side at Kum Kale were no feint. Weber Pacha has in his possession the "General Order" of the French landing troops. Kum Kale and its neighborhood were to be taken and held at all cost in order that the Turkish batteries in that locality might be captured. It was feared that these batteries would prove a thorn in the side of the Allied troops at Sid-el-Bahr; because they could sweep, and at present do sweep, every day, the positions on the Allied right wing.

The French failed to hold Kum Kale, because the Turkish batteries mowed down everything on the ground held by the French troops, and the Ottoman infantry waded in with the bayonet in a manner, which not even the French, he mean performers with the bayonet themselves, could stand. So they reembarked and went to Sid-el-Bahr, where today, they form the Allied right wing, and are almost daily subjected to a galling fire by the Turkish batteries they were to silence. At any rate the British forces form the left wing at Sid-el-Bahr, which is out of effective reach of the Turkish "Kum Kale" batteries.

Early in May, General Weber was transferred to command the South Group of the Ottoman forces of Gallipoli.

About four in the afternoon the first visit to the actual Sid-el-Bahr front was made by the Associated Press correspondent. The route taken led across a stretch of country on which the Allies ships and land artillery have thrown tens of thousands of shot and shrapnel. For miles the earth is scarred with the holes and furrows of exploded projectiles. Fragments of steel are almost as common as rocks on a New England field. Within a few square yards one can find parts of projectiles of every calibre and description—from the three-inch shells of field artillery to the 15-inch giants of the superdreadnought Queen Elizabeth. Some of the holes torn into the ground are large enough to completely hide several men on horseback. Despite this withering fire the Ottoman troops held their ground.

The spirit of the Turkish soldiers in this position was excellent. The men were resting on the ground when the party approached. Instantly they were on their feet. A lusty "merhaba" came from hundreds of strong throats. To an inquiry how they felt, the men replied with a sincere: "Very good, sir," and smiling faces, despite the shrapnel which kept on coming, and the spent Allied rifle balls which hummed above their heads.

"We're not afraid of the English and French," said several to whom the question implied was put.

"Now comes a part of the approach which is very dangerous," said the officer who acted as guide. "We must take that at a smart pace. The British infantry can't see us, but every bullet which goes high lands on that spot."

Off he started at a canter, followed by the others. The road now led at a right angle to one of the British trenches and bullets whizzed past every instant. Meanwhile some other British battery had taken up the fire and several shrapnel increased the "interest" of the party, which, nevertheless, kept close to a clay bank and continued on its way to the front. More reserve troops were passed and more "merhabas" were heard. Everywhere smiling faces and eyes grateful for the recognition of a salute.

The ride to the actual firing line continued under a shrapnel and shell fire which at times became rather critically uncomfortable. Wounded men were being met now. Most of them walked, a few were carried on stretchers—all were well bandaged, as an inspection established.

"Here is another danger zone," said the officer-guide, and sped off. This time the ground had to be covered at full speed. Through low shrubs and across rocks he led the way. When the party halted in a dry river bed, the trenches of the Turks had been reached.

In the shelter of a high embankment rested more Turkish soldiers. Most of them were men on fatigue. They had been making a portable barbed-wire entanglement known as "Spanish horse." A few of the men had come from the trenches for water, others for the evening meal. The same good humor was met in their case, though few of them had slept the previous night, owing to an attack they had made on the British in front of them.

The correspondent was received by a captain and his sergeant, presiding geniuses of a machine gun section. Coffee was offered in a little wooden shack which the two inhabit. The attack on the previous night had been severe, said the captain. The British had thrown hand grenades, but the Turks had occupied part of the trench and were still holding it.

"I am against your going into the trenches this afternoon," continued the captain. "The shrapnel fire is too severe. Come back tomorrow."

Just before sundown the party left for another section of the Turkish line. The artillery fire on both sides had become more severe; machine guns began to be heard and the bullets of one of them splashed into a clay bank nearby.

"One of the oddest things we have around here is the village of Kirthia," said the officer-guide. "The Allies have almost razed it with shell and fire and since that they have tried innumerable times to take it by assault. Do you want to go there?"

To reach Kirthia one had to traverse the broad ridge of a low hill, swept by the shells of the Allied batteries.

"When we get to that bush over there break into a gallop," cautioned the officer. "Ride for all you are worth until you get into the communication trench." This advice was followed, and the trench was reached just in time to escape two shells, compliments of the ever-alert Allies gunners. Their range was poor, but a marked improvement was all too noticeable as an attempt was made to survey the contested terrain from a point from which it was visible in its entirety.

Kirthia, once a flourishing Greek settlement, presented a melancholy spectacle. The Allied shells had wrecked every house and fire had consumed most of the debris. A few starved cats were its only denizens.

One of the streets of the place is still swept by the rifle fire from a British trench. The party advanced as far as this street and then decided to return, instead of visiting the Turkish positions some 1,000 yards south of the last house.

There was a surprise in store for the party on return. Just before the danger zone was approached the officer recommended that one man at a time cross the summit at full gallop. The interpreter, an Arab, went first, the correspondent was second, the two riding about 300 yards apart. Evidently the Allied gunners guessed that the men, who, half an hour ago, had raced down the slope, would return that way, and were ready. One after another the shrapnel shrieked over head or burst close by, but shelter was reached in safety.

"That was experience enough for one afternoon," said General Webber that evening at dinner. "I must confess that the Allied artillery is very, very diligent. Just why they go to the trouble of wasting shells on individuals, I don't know. No doubt, they have plenty of them."

During dinner, General Webber went over the major features of the campaign of the Allies against the Dardanelles. His praise of the Turkish soldiers was unstinted.

"They are probably the most frugal of men," he said, "and uncomplaining to a fault. I am beginning to understand the military successes of the Osmanli when they first came to Europe. The Turkish soldier is satisfied with a piece of dry bread and a little water, when he can't get anything else. He is remarkably immune from disease, innured to hardship and almost shockproof. He has nerves, of course, but I am sure they do not bother him. His indifference to the possibility of dying any instant is due, I believe, to his fervent adherence to his religion. The Mohammedan, generally, is very pious, and to him a life hereafter is much more of a reality than to most others. To be as sure of eternal bliss as the average Turkish soldier, makes dying easy."

The Turkish soldier prefers bayonet work to rifle fire, because in this manner he gets at his antagonist, thought Webber Pasha. There is an exhilaration to man-to-man fighting which all other phases of combat lack.

The second day's visit at the front started with a lively cannonade shortly after daybreak. A run through the fire zone, or bent low behind the trench parapets, and the advance trench was reached. On a low earth-bank running the length of the trench, under the parapet sat many men. Their rifles stood beside them.

Machine guns were passed. Little dugouts for officers and men were noticed. Here and there a fatigue squad was busy improving the trench. Some men were mending their uniforms, some were smoking, several were writing while others passed the time playing with pebbles. All these men were waiting for, and ready for, an attack, for which an English officer in the thrench 200 yards away might at that very instant be issuing the orders.

"Just waiting for them", said a Turkish non-commissioned officer of the 19th infantry of the line. "We aren't afraid. Let them come!"

Over the trench circled a British aeroplane, the sunlight shining through its canvas wings. The machine was at an elevation of at least 3,000 feet. Would the men in it throw steel-darts or bombs? Those in the trench were not interested in either possibility. There is lots of room outside the ditch, they said.

"By looking through this hole, you will see the British trenches", said the officer guide. "But don't look too long. They have mighty good spy glasses on the other side."

Between the Turkish and British trenches could be seen a 200-yard-wide patch of sun-dried grass with black dots here and there—the dots were dead men awaiting burial which the rigors of modern trench warfare denied them. Beyond the yellow patch and its black dots ran a low red line—the parapet of the British trench. Against this parapet rested more dead men.

After the distribution of a trench meal, consisting of the Turkish "pilaf"—mutton cooked with rice—an artillery control station was visited. A long communication trench had to be negotiated before the station was reached. Again the ever-watching British gunners fired at three lone men.

The officer in charge of the station asked the visitor to observe the fire of the Turkish batteries. It was excellent. In a trench of the Allies some unusual activity had been observed. With both eyes glued to the lower end of a periscope glass the visitor watched, the officer gave distance and command over the telephone and a minute later a piece nearby barked. Seconds elapsed and then the shell exploded in the trench in question.

A ride in the hot noon sun brought the correspondent to a neighboring camp. Lunch was served there and after that the gleam white sand of a river bed invited a rest which ended in sleep—and a sudden awakening by a detonation nearby that seemed to rock the earth. A British aeroplaneist had dropped a large bomb, which exploded about 50 yards from the sleepers, killing eight horses and wounding two men.

In the stillness which followed the explosion the faint hum of a motor could be heard. Directly above hovered the aeroplane, its operator perhaps ready to let another bomb drop.

Routing Your Telephone Call

THIS picture shows how the traffic engineers of the Bell system have mapped out the route for long distance telephone calls between New York and Kansas City.

There may be forty different routes by which a telephone call could be routed; the Bell engineers pick out the one which will give the best service to the public. Constant study is necessary to meet changing conditions due to plant extensions and improved equipment.

There are 12,000,000 long distant routes in the Bell system, which must be prepared and kept up to date and in addition a great number of toll lines of the Associated Companies, which are determined and maintained with similar care.

When you use the Long Distance telephone, your call is routed in such a way that you will get the best possible transmission. It is supervised by operators all along the line who take a personal pride in rendering perfect service.

AMERICAN GOLD HOARD GREATEST IN HISTORY

Two Billion of Precious Metal Held by Country.

Surgeons Make Scientific Study of Policemen's Feet—Fashions of Centuries Displayed at Art Museum—Gotham Gossip.

New York, Aug. 14.—The United States has today the greatest supply of gold in its history, greater than any other nation on earth, and probably greater than any other two nations. The amount of gold held in this country in the form of cash or bullion is $2,066,399,539. According to the latest reports, England had about $800,000,000, which is all practically controlled by the government.

The latest report from Germany, which was in 1907, showed that country held $1,044,000,000 in gold. The supply in the United States for that year was only $1,612,000,000. The large increase in the stock of gold in the United States represents the losses of the precious metal to this country by the principal nations in Europe on account of the huge balance of trade in our favor. Based on the returns for July, the United States is now accumulating gold at the rate of $12,000,000 a month.

As a result of an exhaustive study made by a committee of police surgeons in an endeavor to prevent deformed feet among the members of the New York police force, the Police Commissioner has issued a pamphlet designed to aid the policemen in overcoming these defects. The three conditions most prevalent among the New York policemen are weak feet, flat feet without pain and flat feet with pain. The most common causes of flat feet, according to the physicians, are improper shoes and faults in standing and walking. Diagrams and illustrations are presented showing that the policemen's work compel them to stand on their feet or to walk slowly for long periods, their foot muscles therefore getting little exercise and consequently wasting more rapidly. The proper means for preventing this condition, the surgeons declare, are exercising the feet and legs, learning to walk and stand correctly, and wearing the right kind of shoes. The shoe in particular is the most important factor in overcoming and preventing these deformities. It should be of medium weight, and one that touches over its entire length a ruler laid along its inner side. Pointed shoes or those that crowd the big toe outward will cause trouble and are likely to produce flat feet.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art has placed on view an exhibition of thirty dolls illustrating fashions of women from the middle ages to the 20th century. This action was taken in response to an increasing demand for costume material from American designers who have been shut off from their usual European sources of inspiration. Although each model is 14 inches tall, they seem to vary in height owing to differences in dressing the hair, the style of bonnet, the elevation and depression of heels, and the severity and redundance of draperies. The costuming offers fresh proof that fashions move in circles, thus enabling modern designers to draw on the different centuries for the next evolution in women's dress. The models have been chosen from paintings of the old masters, tapestries and standard authors on costume. Every detail has been carefully worked out, and fabrics have been selected in texture and design as nearly as possible like those of the periods reproduced. Designers, students and other visitors may judge from the dolls exactly how styles looked when worn, and the intention is to give a better appreciation of the subject than they would get from illustrations or from an inspection of original costumes in which the museum is rich.

Representing the last word in costly construction, spaciousness, interior appointments, equipment and elegance without ostentation, a 12-story apartment house soon to be erected in Fifth avenue will be the finest structure of its kind in the world. Not only will it contain every facility for the comfort of the tenants, but there are to be apartments much larger than the average city dwelling. According to the plans, two floors will be devoted each to three apartments, consisting of two simplex apartments of unusual size and one duplex apartment. The simplex apartments will contain 19 rooms and six baths, while the duplex apartments will contain 20 rooms and six baths. There will also be a few floors arranged for one apartment on a floor consisting of 28 rooms and 11 baths. The rooms are to be of unusual size, the drawing room being 21x38 feet and the dining rooms 20x26 feet. The larger apartments have rooms for 16 servants while the others have rooms for seven and eight servants. A feature of the building will be the central court, on which the foyer will open. This court will be treated architecturally in the Italian style, and will give an air of spaciousness as one enters the building.

In an endeavor to simplify the collection of out-of-town checks, the New York Clearing House has completed arrangements for the establishment of a new bureau to be known as "The Country Check Department." It has been decided to restrict the activities of this new department at the beginning to the 388 banks and trust companies located in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, but eventually it is expected that the check collection facilities will be extended to other states. It is proposed that each member of the clearing house shall send in daily all checks drawn on the listed out-of-town banks. These will be sorted and each bank charged with the different checks drawn against it. The clearing house will then send a collection letter to each of the 388 banks on its lists, and these institutions will send a single remittance for all checks drawn against it immediately upon their receipt. The clearing house will then distribute the proceeds among the various banks which had deposited checks for collection. The out-of-town banks, by making a single remittance to the clearing house, will be saved considerable money and trouble, while the members of the clearing house will likewise effect a saving through the operation of this co-operative collection system. —LONGACRE.

STRIKING PHASES IN SHIPBUILDING ACTIVITY

Advance in Oil and Iron and Railroad Construction.

Referring to the industrial activities of the South for the week the Manufacturers Record calls attention to the continued and increasing activity in shipbuilding interests. A Baltimore shipyard has just secured a contract to build two steamships for a Norwegian firm at a cost of $500,000, and could immediately close contracts for $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 worth of additional work for American and foreign ship owners if it had the facilities for taking on additional work. It is now preparing to enlarge its plant in order to handle more business. At Newport News, Va., contracts have been closed for two more big oil steamships, making five under construction or contracted for at that point, for the Standard Oil company; while another oil steamer recently damaged by fire is to be repaired at a cost of $500,000, the total amount of work now under contract at that yard aggregating about $25,000,000, with nearly 6,000 hands employed. So active is the demand for ship room that a Norwegian shipowner, who came to this country six weeks ago, recently purchased five large American schooners, and the same day chartered them to load lumber at Southern ports for the United Kingdom, the freight to be paid as soon as loaded, and the total freight for the one voyage exceeding by $30,000 the price paid for the vessels. Within a few days he sold these five vessels for delivery upon arrival in Europe, making a net profit in the deal of $100,000. The crowded condition of American shipyards and the activity in shipping and shipbuilding is indicated in the fact that an Atlantic coast company has just let a contract for a large steamer to be built on the Pacific coast.

Coincident with this improvement in shipbuilding activities there are signs of betterment in railroad financing and construction work. The Seaboard Air Line has sold nearly $23,000,000 worth of bonds to pay for new roads purchased, extensions to be made and to care for financing for the next few years. The Southern Railway during the week let contract for its double-tracking work on its main line in the Carolinas to the extent of $1,400,000. The Baltimore & Ohio has contracted for $1,000,000 worth of rails and cars, following contracts for $2,500,000 for equipment made a month ago, and is now having plans prepared for a $1,000,000 coal pier to take care of increased coal exports from Baltimore. The Western Maryland let contract during the week for a six mile extension, at a cost of about $400,000, to reach new coal fields.

There has been a marked advance in the price of oil and reports from Oklahamo indicate that the increase last week added about $11,000,000 to the value of the oil now stored in that state, and at the same time greatly stimulated the entire industry.

Notwithstanding the stagnation in all industrial activities during last summer and fall, following the opening of the war in Europe, the improvement in cotton-mill conditions in the South has been so pronounced that the consumption for the 12 months ending with July exceeded by 100,000 bales the consumption of the preceding year, having amounted to 3,160,000 bales, compared with 2,600,000 bales of American cotton consumed by all other mills in the United States. During June the consumption of cotton in Southern mills reached 300,000 bales, a record figure, which, if continued during the coming 12 months, would carry the South's consumption to 2,600,000 bales.

Reports from Birmingham show a rapid improvement in the iron and steel interests of that section, with a large advance in the price of iron, heavy sales for future delivery, and a return to work of some thousands of men who have been idle for a long time.

The imports of mangenese at Baltimore from Brazil for shipment to steel works in Pittsburgh district are increasing rapidly, and are now running at the rate of 20,000 tons a month, one vessel having arrived during the week with 8,200 tons, said to be the largest cargo of that ore ever received in the United States. A large number of steamers and sailing vessels of American and foreign registry are now on the way from Brazil or loading in that country with manganese destined via Baltimore for the steel works of Pennsylvania and the West.

OTTOMAN WOUNDED GIVEN GOOD CARE

Hygiene Well Administered in Turkish Camps.

HOSPITALS ARE MODERN

All Men at Front Vaccinated Against Typhoid and Typhus—Sick and Wounded Kept Separate Gardens at Ismes Bey.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)

Constantinople, July 30.—The health of the Turkish troops at the Gallipoli and Dardanelles fronts is good, and the wounded from these theatres of war are well cared for. To this may be added that the Turkish medical staff has shown much resourcefulness and that the occasional paucity of materials and medicaments is met in a spirit one would not expect to find in an organization of which so little good was said during the late Balkan war. The capacity of the hospitals inspected by the Associated Press correspondent is over 3,000.

Camp hygiene is well administered in the Ottoman army. Trenches visited were found to be scrupulously clean. The food of the men is well cooked and care is taken that none but good water is drunk by the men. Every effort is made to keep the clothing of the men free from yermin and to facilitate this retorts, in which infested clothes may be baked or disinfected, are built wherever they are needed. Great ingenuity has been displayed in this. As a rule, the retort is nothing more than a large hole in some convenient hillside, similar to a bake oven. Its floor is paved with brick or field stone, and under this two other holes are dug for the fire that is to heat the retort. The construction is extremely simple and not a single piece of iron is used in it. Even the door of the retort is generally a large rock.

In the camps visited all latrines were found in an excellent state. Lime was being used as a disinfectant, because other chemicals can not be had in Turkey at present. To combat the fly pest messes and kitchens are placed so that air currents can sweep through them. This method is not as effective as screening, but screens are hard to get in Turkey. It may be said in this connection that the experience of the Turkish troops on the Gallipoli peninsula with flies has been a most trying one, but that, so far, the fly has not proven as great an agent of disease as has been charged in other parts of the world. It is thought, however, that this is largely due to the fact that the Turkish soldier eats very little uncooked food or cooked food which has been exposed to contamination long. His mess of rice, beans, peas, and meat is generally too hot to invite a fly.

Every battalion in the field has a surgeon and a number of trained sanitary service men. Upon these rests the task of keeping the camp clean. Though this little organization is also expected to be of service to the wounded and sick, its first duty is disease prevention.

All men at the front have been vaccinated against typhoid and typhus—vaccinated men are given a certificate. The constant changing caused by losses and reinforcements makes frequent inspections of these certificates necessary. Men who fail to produce a certificate are immediately re-vaccinated. The same is true of men whose certificate shows that the period of immunity resulting from a prior vaccination is about to expire. So successful has been this method that on June 24, when the correspondent visited a lazaret for contagious cases, the entire Turkish force on the peninsula had but three cases of mild enteric fever and none of typhoid or typhus.

Sick and wounded are never admitted to the same hospital, nor are they treated in the same tent even at the front.

One of the lazaretts for the sick visited was a model institution of its kind, and, odd to relate, the lack of material and other unfavorable conditions had made it so. In its former location the lazarett had been bombarded by an Allied aviator, to whom the large white tents had been a welcome target. So the lazarett had to be shifted. Major Jack Messim, chief physician, then discovered that his tentage had suffered considerably from the aerial bombardment. The new site of the lazarett was well wooded, and this led to the building of large permanent booths of pine timbers and boughs. The boughs on the roof and sides of the booth do not permit the hot sunlight to enter, while giving free access to the breeze, and the fragrance of the rosin and pine needles is a good deodorant. The old tenting has been converted into sheets that may be stretched over the booth in case of rain. It is doubtful whether the sick of any army are as well situated as those in care of Major Messim and his staff. His losses through death from all cases are so far less than 2 per cent. Non-contagious diseases only are treated in his lazarett.

Similarly constructed are the "buildings" of the hospital for severe wounds in charge of Ismes Bey, captain surgeon. The Messim and Ismes establishments lie under the same hill and are separated by a gorge in whose shelter the bacteriological and chemical laboratory of the two institutions operates.

Ismes Bey cares for all the severely wounded of the Turkish Avi Burnou group. His hospital is probably one of the best to be found anywhere. Its booths and tents are located under tall pine trees and are well kept. The beds, though none too comfortable, perhaps, are scrupulously clean and the well-being of the patients is promoted by having men from the "working reserves" keep the flies from them with white clothes fastened to long, thin poles. The construction of the booths does not permit "fly proofing" and good ventilation at the same time, and since the fanning against the flies also tends to keep the men cool, Captain Ismes Bey decided upon the method of fly-chasing employed.

Ismes Bey belongs to the class of surgeons who believe that pleasant environment helps the patient to speedy recovery. With this in view he has caused flowers to be planted where the patients can see them. Parts of his "forest" hospital remind one of a well kept rustic garden. Good care is given even the walks. Most of them had to be cut into the steep hillside. They were then carefully revetted and covered with gravel from the neighboring Dardanelles.

In the Ismes Bey hospital only severely wounded are received. The operating room is a large tent with wooden floor, is fly proof and the dust is guarded against by keeping the ground nearby constantly sprinkled. The medical staff of Ismes Bey is probably one of the best in the field. Its members are young men with training and experience gained in Germany and France. Their work is quick and thorough, as watching a number of operations and amputations seemed to indicate. Extracting a large shell splinter from the upper arm of a soldier, an operation which necessitated the splitting of the muscle to the bone, took less than ten minutes, for instance.

When a severely wounded patient has become "transportable", he is shipped to one of the city hospitals. Ismes Bey hospital loses only from 3 to 4 per cent of cases in which operation has been necessary. The total loss of all cases is from 17 to 18 per cent, many of the severely wounded dying shortly before or during the operation.

Near the Ismes hospital is a camp for the lightly wounded. It consists of a number of large tents and booths in which the men sleep. The day is passed in the shade of the trees. Wounds are examined and dressed at stated intervals of the day. The stamina of the Turkish soldier makes any other care superfluous.

Whether a man is able to walk out of the firing line or trench, or must be carried out on a stretcher, establishes in the Ottoman army his status as "lightly" or "severely" wounded. Lightly wounded are marked with a large white pasteboard ticket with one red bar running down the center. Severely wounded have a similar ticket with two red bars. With the exception of foot wounds the lightly wounded are required to walk to the field hospital. To the base hospital they are carried in ordinary escort wagons. Severely wounded are carried to the field hospitals in an ambulance, known as the "Brussa" ambulance, which has almost completely displaced the American ambulances formerly used in the Turkish military service. Transfer to the base hospital is also made in this manner. The attention given the severely wounded at the field stations covers immediate needs only.

The Turkish soldier is not very susceptible to pain. He gives little trouble when wounded, and his almost extraordinary frugality makes him a patient who is easily cared for. Medical men are of the opinion that the total abstinence of most Turkish soldiers reduces the possibility of wound infections, lessens the shock susceptibility and aids in the recovery of the patient.

Ultimately all severely wounded are brought to Constantinople, where about a score of well appointed hospitals are being maintained. Those visited by the Associated Press correspondent left little to be desired. These hospitals have every modern accessory of surgery, such as X-ray department, plants for the sterilization of dressing materials and laboratories. Patients in whom the wound has caused a temporary paralyzation of motor nerves and muscles are sent to one of the many mineral baths in Turkey, and recently an institution for electro-theurapeutical treatment has been opened for the benefit of invalided soldiers.

It is admitted even by the Turkish army surgeons that their service was a total failure during the late Balkan war. That, however, cannot be said of the work now done by the medical department. Surprising as such a statement must be, it is claimed that so far only two cases of tetanus have developed as the result of the Gallipoli campaign. A statement as to the total of casualties cannot be made at this time, because if there is one thing upon which reliable figures cannot be had from Turkish official sources it is information as to numbers of any sort affecting the Turkish forces in the field.

SEVEN HYDRO-ELECTRIC PLANTS WILL BE BUILT

Half Million Horse Power for Making Aluminum Pigs.

Aluminum Company of America Pays Southern Railway a Million Dollars and Long Negotiations Are Concluded.

(By T. W. Chambliss.)

Bushnell, N. C., Aug. 12.—After two years of negotiations an agreement has been reached between the Southern Railway Company and the Aluminum Company of America and the last obstacle is removed from the progress of the building of seven immense hydro-electric plants along the route of the Little Tennessee River between Bushnell, N. C., and Chilhowee, Tenn. These plants are to produce 500,000 horsepower and this current is to be used by the Aluminum company in the production of pig aluminum.

The agreement as signed by President Harrison of the Southern Railway and Mr. A. R. Davis, of Pittsburg, Pa., representing the Aluminum Company, provides for the payment of one million dollars to the Southern Railway in lieu of damages to its proposed line between Fontana, N. C., and Chilhowee, Tenn. The building of the seven immense dams across the Little Tennessee river will possibly cause the back water from the river to interfere with the right of way and grading of the twenty-five mile line of railroad yet to be constructed to complete what is known as the Bushnell extension of the Southern Railway, running from Bushnell, N. C., to Maryville, Tenn., crossing the Great Smoky Mountains west of Fontana, N. C. The Southern has constructed the road from Bushnell to Fontana, and it is known as the Carolina and Tennessee railroad. Westward from Fontana, the right of way has been staked and much of the grading done toward Chilhowee, Tenn. From Chilhowee to Maryville, Tenn., the line is built and in operation.

The Aluminum Company of America is not merely an organization on paper. During the past year the company began work at Maryville, Tenn., having completed the first dam across the Little Tennessee river east of Maryville and erected a plant and this plant is busy now producing pig aluminum, and although not yet running at its full capacity is a busy concern and because of the large number of men employed, the quiet old town of Maryville has taken on the appearance of one of the Western boom towns of 20 years ago. Following their original plan of a system of seven dams and hydro-electric plants along the line of the Little Tennessee through the Great Smoky Mountains, the Aluminum Company has worked for two years to reach the agreement with the Southern Railway. This agreement provides that the Aluminum Company may proceed with its work and that if the erection of the dams shall flood the line of the Southern Railway between Bushnell and Fontana in North Carolina, a line 12 miles long, then the Aluminum Company shall pay to the Southern railway $500,000. The new line to be built will be from 100 to 180 feet higher than the present line, starting at Bushnell on the present grade and rising to 180 feet at Fontana. Later when the Southern Railway shall build from Fontana to Chilhowee, the amount that the Aluminum Company shall pay towards the construction of the new route shall be $1,000,000 one-half of which is to be paid when the work of construction is started and remainder when the road is completed. It is provided in the agreement that if the Aluminum Company shall have already paid $500,000 toward a change of grade of the line between Bushnell and Fontana, this amount shall be deducted from the amount to be paid toward the construction of the new line into Tennessee. This provision is to secure the Aluminum Company against a total payment of more than one million dollars. In addition, however, the Southern railway is to have an unquestioned right of way over any property of the Aluminum Company.

Several years ago, the Aluminum Company purchased riparian rights along the Little Tennesese river and expended over $1,000,000 in this work and this in addition to the immense sums which have been expended in the erection of the first hydro-electric plant and the reduction works at Maryville.

Plans have already been drawn for the seven dams and power plants and on the authority of Judge H. B. Lindsey, general counsel for the Aluminum Company, it is stated that work will be begun in a very short time on these dams. The location of the reduction works has not been announced. Knoxville made a strong fight for the plant which went to Maryville but failed to secure it and it is expected that the main plant will be erected somewhere between Maryville and Bushnell.

The plant at Maryville is now turning out 30,000 pounds of pig aluminum each day and an addition which will increase the output 50 per cent. is being constructed. The plant uses 25,000 horse power and secures the current from what is known as the Tennessee Power Company pending the completion of their own hydro-electric plants. The completion of the plans of the company call for the expenditure of $20,000,000 and the production of 500,000 horsepower of electricity.

Detroit Electric

Doubled output for 1916 reduces prices as low as $1975

As this town has electricity it is a practical Detroit Electric car town. Long stretches of paved streets are not a necessity for this car with its great power and remarkably easy riding qualities. Detroit Electric owners have demonstrated that it is just as good for interurban motoring as it is for driving about town.

August 15 we reduce the price $600 to $725 per car

Remember—these are the same high quality cars as our 1915 models plus a score or more of 1916 refinements. Even while lowering the price, we bettered the car. In the 1916 Detroit Electric, you will find—we believe—the top place car of its type. We urge you to match it—if you can—in elegance, quality, utility, or value in the entire closed car field—gasoline or electric. This price reduction is possible only because of doubled output.

You get these savings

Our doubled production leads to many economies in all overhead expenses, in purchasing, in advertising, in sales cost, in engineering. All the savings effected by our larger operations we hand on to you—and take our benefit from doubled volume,

Here are the 1916 prices

MISSIONARY NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

"The novel plan of scattering printed lectures from an aeroplane over the city of Osaka was carried out by Mr. Sakamoto, an aviator, in a strenuous mission campaign on a large scale, which was carried out at Osaka, Japan, from May 1-15," writes Missionary F. N. Scott, of Nagasaki. "Dr. Nitobe, one-time exchange lecturer sent to American universities, Colonel Gumpei Yamamuro, of the Salvation Army in Tokyo, besides other prominent Christian workers in that country, assisted at the special meetings, which were largely attended."

Ambitious Chinese Students.

So eager for education are the Chinese of Buitenzorg, Java, that they have had a dream of a well-equipped new boarding school. With the help of friends they have purchased the land, laid the foundation, and secured $5,000 toward the structural work. The Rev. Raymond Archer, for three years a missionary teacher in a Methodist school at Buitenzorg, has come to America to help these ambitious students.

Statistics, Japan Mission, 1914.

Southern Methodist statistics for Japan are given out as follows: Missionaries, 27; native pastors, 29; Bible women, 20; organized churches, 16; members, 2,680; increase, 170; infants baptized, 64; adults baptized, 257; Sunday schools, 83; Sunday school officers and teachers, 360; pupils, 2,750; Epworth Leagues, 102; members, 2,450; day schools, 16; teachers, 24; pupils, 486; higher schools and colleges, 4; teachers, 84; pupils, 2,205.

Thank Offering of Chinese Constructor.

St. John's church grows beautifully, writes a well known missionary. The walls are now being painted, the rough coat of plaster is on, the roof is finished, and all wood work well advanced. Everybody who sees it admires it and marvels at the price—so much church for so little money. It is not due to the building committee, or to those who are furnishing the money, or to the English architect, but to the Chinese constructor. He built Anderson Hall for us, and before it was finished he was converted. This church is largely his thank offering, for he undertook the contract determined not only to make not a cent out of it, but even to contribute all he could in addition. Over and over agai nhe has smilingly said to me: "The Heavenly Father certainly is helping me out—it never rains except at night and Sundays," which has been almost literally true since he began to lay bricks last October.

Moslems a Great Host.

According to an article in the Church Missionary Review, the Mohammedan world includes 201,000,000 people. Of these 90,500,000 are under British rule, 35,000,000 under Russian and French, and 41,500,000 under other governments, chiefly the Dutch. Of the remaining 34,000,000, about one-half or 18,000,000 are subjects of the Ottoman Empire. The Allies (Great Britain, France and Russia) thus rule over a preponderant majority of the world's Moslems, 126,000,000.

Interesting Facts.

Bishop Ferguson, writing from Africa concerning the charge that Liberia has been showing German sympathies, and has been guilty of breach of neutrality, condemns the statement as "a base untruth, patched up as an excuse for carrying out wicked plans long since conceived concerning Liberia."

There are at present seven men in the senior class of Boone Divinity School, Wuchang, China, and six new men have just been admitted. Six new men have also entered All Saints' Divinity School, Hankow. Of these nineteen divinity students, one belongs to the district of Honolulu, one to the Angelican district of Kwangsi, two to Anking, and the remaining fifteen to the district of Hankow.

A medical missionary writes: "I reached Peking on Monday night and on Tuesday morning there were one hundred and fifty patients requiring attention." There are ten thousand young physicians in America waiting for patients. If they were to go to the missionary field, they could have as many patients the day of their arrival as that medical missionary had in Peking.

The running expenses of all the churches in America in 1900 were $158,000,000. In that year the Protestant Episcopal Church spent $14,606,000 for running expenses; the Presbyterian church $20,375,000; Baptists, $12,348,000; Methodists, $28,269,000; Roman Catholics, $31,185,000; Disciples, $10,000,000. In general, the American churches spent ninety-four cents at home for every six cents they spent for the evangelization of the non-Christian world.

Weak, Weary Women

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs,
When housework is torture,
When night brings no rest nor sleep,
When urinary disorders set in,
Women's lot is a weary one.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Have proved their worth in Wilmington.

This is one Wilmington woman's testimony.

Mrs. J. G. Carney, 320 Church St., Wilmington, says: "I was so run down and felt so bad all over that I could hardly get about to do my housework. I felt so tired and languid that I could hardly drag myself around. After being on my feet a great deal, my back pained me the most. I was feeling so poorly that I decided to take something to build up my system and my druggist, Dr. Hall, recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. I got relief after taking a few doses. My back felt stronger and my kidneys acted more regularly. Since then, I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and have taken a few doses occasionally, whenever my back has felt the least bit sore. They have never failed to give quick relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy — get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mrs. Carney had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BE TRUE TO YOUR IDEALS
Acts 26:12-19

The lives of some people could be expressed by the slang phrase "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way." The first necessity of life is to have a purpose.

The person without a plan is a question mark in the pathway of life. They not only get nowhere, but obstruct traffic, for others not knowing which way they might turn, must stop lest a collision occur.

Some one asked a great sculptor once the secret of his art. He said it was very simple. First, you take a block of marble, then some chisels and chip away the marble you do not want. Certain successful men apparently do their work in this manner. It seems as though little forethought is used and only a hit-or-miss sort of skill. That the work goes on to completion with but a small amount of effort. This is only apparent. No work of importance is accomplished without a definite ideal or plan, and if the secrets could be known, it would be found that each line of the plan was drawn at the expense of great fatigue, under the midnight lamp.

In business plans have a commercial value. Business men have special cabinets constructed in which to keep their plans and blue prints. Lawyers are paid thousands of dollars for organization and incorporation plans. When the government first considers a project often a large amount of money is appropriated and engineers are set to work in making these plans. So time and energy that is spent in laying out a pattern or an ideal of life, is not lost. It is an investment, and as a business man would say, should be charged to capital.

An ideal besides being workable should be inspiring and congenial. It should be one which will make the holder feel that it is worth every effort of his life to obtain. Such an ideal makes an earnest life, a balanced life, a useful life. For no ideal can be worth while and not make its possessor a better man, citizen and Christian.

In planning or making an ideal, two things should be kept in mind. First, that the plan should not be so extravagant that it is not workable. Second, that it shall have sufficient amplitude that it will not be outgrown and cast aside.

Some lives are nearly as stagnant as it is possible for a living thing to be. They move neither forward nor backward, content to hold, if they can, what they possess, and not ambitious to gain anything more. Other lives lose ground visibly. Each time we see them they have slipped back a little. Willpower is relaxed, and their expectation of good for themselves and for the world is diminished. There are other men who go from strength to strength. Each day they can accomplish more than the day before. Their thought of truth is larger. Their confidence in what can be achieved and in what God can achieve through them is bolder. They are men who pursue ideals which are in advance of all past attainment.

The possibility of such growth and increase of life is what makes life so rich and hopeful. No man needs to remain what he has been. The past is not his goal or bound. It is simply his point of departure, the thing he begins with. Precedents are meant to be just the marks that we must not fall below, not the limits beyond which we must not go. What could not be done by me, or by our society or by our church last year ought to be done this or next year or the year after.

One worthy lesson from war is the lesson that the use of life for high ends is better than life itself ,because it is life in its highest use and fulfilment. On the monument to Robert Gould Shaw on Boston Common are these lines:

"Right in the van on the red rampart's slippery swell,
With heart that beat a charge he fell
Forward as fits a man;
But the high soul burns on to light men's feet,
Where death for noble ends makes dying sweet."

But the principle is the principle for peace and life as well as for war and death. We ought always to be going beyond our lives, and recognizing duty and achievements as things to be won above our past selves.

"Have I aimed proudly—therefore aimed too low—
Striving for something visible in my thoughts,
And not the unseen thing hid far in thine?

Unless thou show to us thine own true way,
No man can find it; Father, thou must lead!
Do thou, then, breathe these thoughts into my mind
That in thy holy footsteps I may tread!
Te fetters of my tongue do thou unbind,
That I may have the power to sing of Thee,
And sound thy praises everlastingly!"

EAST CAROLINA TRAINING SCHOOL CLOSES SUMMER TERM.

Ninety-Six Teacher-Students Volunteer for Moonlight School Work.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greenville, N. C., Aug. 14.—Prof. C. W. Wilson, one of the regular faculty of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School, was director of the summer school this year. He has just submitted his report of this summer school to Prof. Robert H. Wright, the president of the school. It is an interesting report and shows much excellent work for the term.

Practically all of the summer term registration are rural teachers. Ninety-six teachers volunteered their services for the moonlight school work.

The faculty, the actual teaching force, was composed of 21, seven were male and 14 female. Thirteen were members of the regular Training School faculty. There were 112 children (not counted elsewhere) enrolled in the four rooms maintained at the model school for six weeks, during the summer term. A special schedule was arranged whereby all the faculty could take their classes to the model school to observe the work of critic teachers. This was very popular with the student-teachers and proved to be very valuable.

TRIBUTE TO DR. BURBANK

For those of us who count the lapse of time since Dr. Burbank has gone to his Maker, there should be a triumphant note in our hearts, in that we have the inspiring example of this man's life who gave himself so fully to those in need—never did skillful practice and tender sympathy more fully unite than in the ministries of this physician who adorned his profession.

"It is not the tear at this moment shed
That can tell how beloved was the friend that's fled,
Or how deep in our hearts we deplore him;
'Tis the tear through many a long day wept,
Through a life by his loss all shaded,
For worth shall look fairer and truth more bright,
When we think how he lived but to love them!"

COTTON MARKET RALLIED

Close Was Steady, Unchanged to Three Points Lower—Selling Based Largely on View of Weather.

New York, Ag. 14.—An early decline in the cotton market was followed by rallies on scattered covering for over the week-end with the close steady, net unchanged to three points lower. Cables were relatively steady, but the market here opened at a decline of 2 to 4 points, and sold off to a net loss of about 7 to 10 points during the early trading. The census figures on supply and distribution for the month of July showed rather a smaller domestic mill consumption of lint cotton than some had anticipated, while scattering liquidation may also have been inspired by press reports suggesting an increased probability that the Allies would soon place cotton on their list of contraband, but the selling seemed to be chiefly based on the better view of the weather map and reports that the increased movement in the Southwest was bringing some hedge selling into the local market.

Offerings, however, were not heavy or general enough to suggest any material change in general conditions and after the decline to 9.55 for December contracts, prices steadied on a moderate demand from shorts and scattered buying promoted by a steadier turn in the New Orleans market and the failure of the Texas weather details to show as much rain in the Southwest as expected. The official forecast was for partly cloudy weather in the western belt, but some of the local traders predicted that the progress of the tropical storm off the south coast of Florida would probably bring Texas further rains within the next two or three days.

Cotton futures closed steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Enough Selling to Hold Prices Under Friday's Level.

New Orleans, Aug. 14.—Little attention was paid to bullish features today in the cotton market and enough selling developed to hold prices under the level of yesterday's close. At the lowest prices were 4 to 7 points down. Toward the end of the session shorts bought covers and the close was steady at a net loss of 1 to 2 points.

Cables were better than due, but they did not help opening prices which were a point off on the near months. The bullish consumption figures from the census bureau failed to stimulate support and the approach of the tropical storm nearer to the cotton belt did not encourage buying. Feeling was bearish over the export and foreign exchange situation, because of the growing conviction that England shortly would put cotton on the contraband list.

Selling undoubtedly was held in check by bullish influences, but at no time did the market develop any buying power. Weather conditions over the belt were considerable because of scattered showers.

Cotton futures closed steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points. Close: October 9.15; December 9.42; January 9.55; March 9.78; May 9.98.

Spot quiet, unchanged. Sales on the spot 190, to arrive 1,275. Middling 8.94.

WAR SPECIALTIES REVERSED

Setback Largely Due to Belief That It is Time for Rise in These Issues to Halt—Crucible Weakest.

New York, Aug. 14.—Severe reversals in some of the war specialties marked today's brief session of the stock market. The setback was attributed to a variety of causes, but more likely it resulted from the fast growing belief that the time had come for a halt in further rise of these volatile issues.

Crucible Steel was the weakest feature, recording a maximum loss of eight points. Willys Overland, Bethlehem Steel and Allis Chalmers fell from 4 to 15 points, but regained much of their loss later. Bethlehem Steel preferred, on a single sale just before the close, lost 11 points.

The movement was not all in the one direction, however, Studebaker ascending to the new high price of 100 an overnight gain of 5 1-4. Other points of strength included Pacific Mail and American Woolen, common and preferred.

Railroads were irregular until toward the end of the session, when Reading recovered from its early heaviness, carrying others in the same class to higher levels.

Lower rates for exchange on London and Paris were quoted and the foreign exchange market was utterly demoralized.

The bank statement fulfilled popular estimates, actual demand deposits increasing over $50,000,000, with a $21,000,000 increase of reserve, these items being an obvious reflection of the week's heavy gold imports.

The bond market manifested an easier tendency on nominal dealings. Total sales, par value, amounted to $1,320,000. United States coupon 4s declined 1-4 per cent and Panama 3s 1-8 per cent on call during the week. Other government issues advanced 1-4 to 1-2 per cent.

Only our lack of faith in the intellect of the Mexican leaders leaves doubt in our mind of the success of the Pan-American representation suggestive of peace. If we were dealing with Indians or some African coast tribe we would have higher hopes for good results, but the Mexican—well, he is the toughest proposition of all.—Charlotte Observer.

VOLUNTEER ARMY OF 1,250,000 AVAILABLE

Only Need Is to Utilize It, Says General Wood

Forty Thousand Officers Would Be Required to Command the Army—Is Against Waiting Until Time of War to Organize.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The United States has plenty of material for a volunteer army for one and a quarter million men and all that is now needed are plans for utilizing it, Major General Leonard Wood declared here today in a statement as to the preparedness of the nation for war.

The chief need, he said, was officers, and he advocated training students in their junior and senior years along the same lines as now are being used at the military camp of instruction here.

For an army of one and a quarter million men, General Wood said the nation would need 40,000 officers. From these, 1,500 should be chosen each year for special grades of the service. These men eventually, he said, would have become the higher grade of officers for volunteers.

General Wood also took a strong stand against waiting until time of war to organize a volunteer army.

Replies Expected.

"The undersigned expect a reply to this communication within a reasonable time; and consider that such a time would be ten days after the communications is delivered, subject to prerogation for cause."

Then are appended the names of Secretary Lansing, the ambassadors from Brazil, Chile and Argentina and the ministers from Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala.

Sent to Many Leaders.

The appeal went forward today to Generals Carranza and Villa and to more than a score of other military and political leaders throughout Mexico, being transmitted by cable, telegraph and wireless, and every method was acquired to reach the desired destination.

Replies are asked for within ten days after the appeal is received, although the time may be extended for cause.

The conferees confidently expect within a reasonable time enough favorable replies to warrant them in extending their aid to arrange for the proposed peace congress.

General Carranza's attitude toward the appeal still is a matter of speculation here. Although his position thus far has been regarded as defiant, it is hoped that the friendly tone of the appeal may lead him to open negotiations with the conferees. It is generally believed he will reply by making counter proposals upon which he would agree to join in a peace conference.

Should Carranza make no reply whatever, it is expected the conferees will accept the invitation of other factions in Mexico to arrange details for a peace conference without his participation.

MAY BUILD CRATE FACTORY.

Petersburg Man Considering Locating at Rocky Mount.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Aug. 14.—Mr. D. Dunlop Routh, formerly engaged in the manufacture of crates and baskets with the Southside Manufacturing Co., of Petersburg, Va., has recently spent some time in this city at the solicitation of the chamber of commerce, and it is believed that he has laid plans that will result in the erection during the fall and winter of a $50,000 crate and basket factory to be located here.

Mr. Routh, who has given years of time and study to this business, has been meeting with some of the leading business and financial interests in this city and when he left today for Petersburg he expressed gratification at the manner in which his plan had been received here and a belief that he had impressed a sufficient number of the need and profitableness of such a business. Mr. Routh will be absent from this city about two weeks after which he will return to press his plan to a successful culmination.

FAMINE HAS FOLLOWED IN WAKE OF HAITIEN REVOLUTION

American Red Cross Has Heeded an Appeal for Aid to Suffering.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Famine has followed in the wake of the Haitien revolution and the American Red Cross heeded today an appeal for aid for suffering natives ow the island republic.

A report from Rear Admiral Caperton, commanding the American forces in Haiti, declared there was considerable suffering for food among the poorer people in Port Au Prince. He asked for Red Cross aid, stating that there had been at least two deaths from starvation. The Red Cross at once sent $1,000 for relief work.

"This morning," said Admiral Caperton's report," a woman and child were found dead in the market place, their death due undoubtedly to starvation."

In many cases, he added families have been without food 48 hours. Resumption fopublic works with the establishment of peace will provide employment for the idle.

SALVATION ARMY GETS BEQUEST

Comes Into Possession of Valuable Oil Lands in England.

Warren, Pa., Aug. 14.—The Salvation Army of America comes into possession of oil land worth $100,000 besides large estates in England, value unknown, through the death heer today of Henry Cobham, who for 50 years has lived in a replica of the Cobham Castle in England. Cobham was a nonogenarian and the last descendant in this country of an old English line of nobility. Relatives will contest the will.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 14.—About 200 machinists, embracing most of the working forces of the leading machine shops of this city went on strike today for an eight-hour working day and an increase in wages of 20 per cent.

RIOT IN NOGALES, ARIZ.

Soldiers Engage Mexicans, Many of Whom Flee Across Border.

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 14.—Scores of American soldiers were participants in a riot on the streets of Nogales tonight as the result, it is said, of a rumor that Mexicans had threatened to take their guns away. Ten Mexicans were attacked before the officers got control of the men. One man was reported to have been slain in Nogales, Mex., just across the border from here by infuriated Mexicans.

The soldiers that engaged in the rioting were members of the 12th infantry and the sixth field artillery. They were joined by a number of civilians who shouted, "Run all the Mexicans across the line."

Two hundred Mexicans fled across the boundary.

The riot was the culmination of high feeling between Americans and Mexicans which had been growing for several days. Soldiers, it was said, had been pushed off the sidewalks by Mexicans and subjected to other petty insults.

DEPOSED HOPEWELL POLICE CHIEF INDICTED BY JURY

Charged With Accepting Bribe in Connection With Murder Case.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 14.—W. D. Henderson, deposed police chief Hopewell, was today indicted by the grand jury empanelled by Judge Jesse F. West, of the Prince George Circuit Court, to investigate alleged graft at Hopewell on a charge of accepting a bribe of $40 in an Italian murder case. It is charged that $300 was given Former Lieut. John Porter to keep quiet on what he knew of the murder case. The indictment charges Henderson with accepting $40 of this $300 to keep silent on the case. Another indictment also was returned against Henderson charging him with selling liquor.

Twenty-four other indictments were returned against several persons charging them with selling liquor. Their names were withheld until they are placed under arrest.

LABOR SITUATION IS QUIET.

Striking Machinists at Bridgeport and Ansonia Raise No Disturbance.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 14.—The labor situation was quiescent today, according to reports from Bridgeport and Anzonia, where machinists are on strike at certain plants.

The adoption of the 50 hour week in all industrial plants in Bridgeport was recommended by the Bridgeport Manufacturers' Association in a statement issued today.

The Warner Brothers Company, which employ several thousand hands, today announced that the 50-hour week would hereafter be in force in its factory. The assertion is made that the shorter hours schedule is a natural development and all tendencies show that both employer and employe can accomplish as much under the 50-hour schedule as under a longer working day.
